Plans to Make Speech to the Nation Tonight

BULLETIN

NEWPORT, R. I. (UP) — President Eisenhower today ordered federalization of the Arkansas National Guard and planned to speed back to Washington for a nationwide TV speech to the people tonight about 9 p. m. on the Arkansas school crisis.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UP) — Little Rock and state police seized and hauled away six agitators at Central High School today but nine Negroes who wanted to integrate the school failed to show up again for classes.

A spitting, blood - thirsty crowd, threatening to invade Central High forced school authorities to withdraw the students under police protection Monday three hours after they started classes.

Today's crowd totaled about 300 persons, a third the size of Monday's. The worst it did today was mutter. School attendance after a walkout of about 50 students on Monday, was back to normal. Two thousand white students attend Central.

Gov. Orval Faubus announced he was returning to Little Rock immediately by plane from a governors conference in Georgia in hopes his presence would have a "settling influence."

President Awaits Reports

The White House said President Eisenhower was awaiting "complete reports" from Little Rock before deciding whether to use federal troops to keep peace and enforce integration at Central High School. Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said at Newport, R. I., that the President still was determined to use force if necessary but that any such action would not come until "later in the day."

Crowds started collecting again in front of the school at either ends of a barricaded street today.

By 10 a.m. e.d.t., police had arrested six known agitators, some with knives. One was a well-known agitator named "Bickle."

"There is a man who gave us trouble yesterday," night Police Chief Gene Smith said, as his men grabbed Bickle.

"Get me a writ," Bickle screamed at newsmen as police took him off.

Central High is the focal point of the worst integration dispute since the U.S. Supreme Court ordered integration in April, 1954.

Seize Two Boys

Ten minutes before school took in, police grabbed two high school boys out of a crowd and put them in a squad car. They searched them carefully for weapons, even to the lining of their coats.

Police Chief Marvin Potts said he was not, consciously at least, following the so - called "Nashville plan" to stop violence. Under that plan, used at Nashville schools, agitators were spotted the first day and seized the next.

Today probably was the last chance of city authorities to show that they could prevent violence before the President ordered troops to come in and do it for them.

City police, state police and FBI agents investigated reports of racial violence all night and early today.

Police broke up gang fights on the streets and arrested 16 brawlers, 14 of them Negroes, in an attempt to prevent the incidents

PUC Suspends Trolley Boost In Pittsburgh

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Public Utility Commission today suspended a $1,078,000 fare increase sought by the Pittsburgh Railways Co. and ordered hearings to begin this week because of a threatened mass transit strike Oct. 14 in that city.

The commission scheduled opening of the hearings for Pittsburgh in the state office building starting at 10 a.m.

Commission officials pointed out that while the rate hike was suspended for six months to next April 13, the agency can lift the suspension anytime it reaches a decision before that date.

PUC Chairman Leon Schwartz, Nanticoke, said, he will preside at all hearings to "insure direct representation of the commission on rulings to get orderly presentation of testimony required for prompt disposition of the case." He said it was hoped enough testimony will have been taken to permit the commission to act before Oct. 13.

The PUC pointed out that both sides in the case, including the protesting city of Pittsburgh, had early notice of the fare increase filing and were "aware of the gravity of this transportation problem and the civic crisis it poses."

"The commission, therefore, will seek and expects full cooperation of all parties," Schwartz said.

The company seeks to increase cash fares by three cents and inaugurate trolley and bus token fares at 1 cents above the present cash fare. The base trolley fare is now 20 cents and the bus fare 25 cents.

The proposal was originally filed to become effective Oct. 13.

Chamber to Hold 'Victory Dinner'

A "Victory Dinner" will be held tomorrow at noon in Johnson's Restaurant to celebrate the results of the current membership campaign of the Monessen Chamber of Commerce.

Chairman Harold B. Cramer will ask for reports from team captains A. E. Wilen and Paul T. Nicoden. They headed a group of 32 campaign workers who hoped to enroll 40 new members to boost the Chamber's membership to an all-time high of 500.

Also attending tomorrow's dinner meeting will be Chamber President Charles W. Hagerstrand.

Panepinto Hearing In Council Tomorrow

A meeting of Monessen City Council will be held tomorrow morning beginning at 10 o'clock.

One of the items on the agenda is the reopening of the hearing for Philip Panepinto, who was fired as a policeman last July following a hearing before Council.

The third and final reading of the proposed Housing Code Ordinance is also scheduled.

ELEVEN MEN TRAPPED BELOW THIS SHAFT — This is the Moore portal of Bethlehem Steel's Marianna coal mine where an explosion trapped 11 men some 500 feet below the ground. Six men were rescued and five killed. The blast ripped apart most of the top part of the shaft and tile block at the base scattered about the area. Rescue teams reached the first man at 2:09 p. m.

FIRST RESCUED GIVEN BLOOD PLASMA — Mike Knizner, 46, first to be freed from the mine shaft at Marianna yesterday afternoon, suffered burns to the hands and face. Sgt. Julius Trombetta, of Washington state police barracks, administers blood plasma to the suffering miner, who was taken to Washington Hospital. Knizner's face, hands and body were covered with vasoline-soaked bandages. His hair was burned off. Others shown in the ambulance are first aidmen.

Marianna Gay on Sunday, Sad on Monday

By LARRY DOYLE

Marianna, a small coal mining community made happy with picnics and other social events Sunday, turned into a community of gloom yesterday morning when word spread that 11 men were trapped after a deafening explosion at the nearby Moore portal of Bethlehem Collieries.

Six of the men were rescued alive. The other five died amid a rubble of steel rock, boulders and coal.

The disaster could have been much worse. Over the week end a ventilating fan some 500 feet below the ground had been found defective, resulting in yesterday morning's first shift being cancelled for an inspection — by the 11 men who fell victim to the blast.

By this move, some 200 others were saved from possible death.

The terrific explosion sent brick, glass, wood and other debris flying in all directions. A dense dust covered the area for several minutes. The deadly odor of carbon monoxide seeped through the few openings left in the damaged mine shaft. Oldtime miners knew what to do immediately — get air into the shaft for the men.

Rescue crews moved into the area in no time flat, armed with ropes and other rigging. Using a mobile crane dropped through a shaft opening, the rescuers worked without letup until all 11 men were brought to the surface. The crews struggled long and hard into the night. Doctors, nurses and ambulances stood by.

Contact was first made with five of the trapped men through note paper lowered into the shaft. The paper was drawn back with the names of five men still alive. Families and friends of the trapped men stood by in somber silence as one of the rescuers read off the names.

Tears streamed down faces. It was futile to try to comfort the grief-stricken. They preferred to be left alone rather than talk. Their eyes never left the shaft where the rescue teams were toiling.

The Rev. Sygmund Zarnecki, of St. Anne and Mary Roman Catholic Church in Marianna, stood by the shaft. His lips moved slightly as he fingered his rosary beads. He was waiting to administer the last rites, if necessary. It was for five men.

As each man was taken from the shaft and placed on stretchers, Father Zarnecki said a prayer and accompanied the victim to the

Six Rescued From Deep Pit Near Marianna

BROWNSVILLE, Pa. (UP) — The bodies of the last two of five miners killed when trapped by a violent explosion 500 feet beneath the earth's surface were brought up today from the depths of a soft coal pit.

Rescuers identified the bodies as those of Joseph Smith, 61, and Stanley Collins, 58, both of Marianna, a small southwestern Pennsylvania community where the sub-surface blast occurred early Monday. Three other bodies were recovered before the last two victims were hauled up at 3:25 a. m., and 4:10 a. m., EDT., today.

The first of the trapped miners was brought to the surface in a makeshift oil drum elevator at 2:10 p.m. At half-hour intervals, five other survivors were lifted to safety in the drums.

All but one of the injured suffered second and third degree burns of the face and hands. Five of the injured were reported in fair condition, the other in poor condition at Washington (Pa.) Memorial Hospital.

Those Hospitalized

Those hospitalized were Mike Knizner, 46; William Nelson, 42; Stanley Majeskyi, 40; John Krupzig, 40; and James Wright, 59, all of Marianna, and Charles Sprowls, 35, Beallsville, Pa. Wright was reported in poor condition and Nelson good.

Monday the bodies of George Demko and Phil Korney, both of Marianna, and George Harmuth, Canonsburg RD 1, were brought to the surface.

The mine, owned by the Bethlehem Steel Corp., was the scene of a cave-in in 1908 which claimed 145 lives.

The explosion sent clouds of dense smoke billowing over Marianna, located about 30 miles south of Pittsburgh.

The first rescue team entered the pit at 8:45 a.m., Monday. They entered an old, played - out shaft four miles from the one in which the men were entombed. But they were forced back 2,000 feet from the cave-in by rock and fire.

Walter Brent, Marianna, said he did not know that work had been cancelled for the day when he drove up.

"I was driving up to the colliery," he said, "when I heard the explosion. I kissed the floorboards and covered my head with my arms."

Communication was established with four survivors within minutes after the explosion. A rope was lowered and the miners tied on a note. It read simply: "Sprowls, Nelson, Majeski and Krupzig."

Shortly after noon, telephone lines were dropped to the men at the foot of the portal shaft. The miners said they all were burned, one so badly he could take liquids only through a straw.

Two Buildings, Car Destroyed In Township Fire

Two frame buildings and a car inside one of them all were completely destroyed when fire swept through the property of George Pierce near Twin Coaches on Route 51 about 2 o'clock this morning.

A barn and an adjoining chicken coop, neither with any livestock in them, were burned to the ground. A 1952 two-door sedan parked in the barn was burned beyond repair. No estimate of the total damage was given.

Neither building contained any farm products. The owner told firemen he had intended tearing down the buildings.

Firemen from Belle Vernon and North Belle Vernon answered the alarm and stayed on the scene for nearly two hours. The fire had a head start before the fire-fighters arrived.

All available water from three trucks was used. Firemen also used water from a nearby artificial pond.

The cause of the fire was not determined.

New facilities at the Monessen Page plant of the American Chain and Cable Co., Inc., went into operation yesterday on an "experimental basis."

Harvey W. Seymour, the plant's general manager, said a few "technical difficulties" developed during the first day's operations. However he predicted they will be corrected in a "very short time."

The new wire patenting process was installed at a cost of $225,000. It is located in a building 600 feet long and 78 feet wide.

When operations hit their peak, the new facilities will increase drawn wire output by 400 tons a month, Seymour said.

Disposal Meeting

The Monessen Planning Commission and Municipal Authority will meet tonight at 7:30 p. m. in the City Building to discuss a proposed sewage disposal plant.

'Turnercrats' Slammed By GOP Candidates

The Republican judicial candidates of Westmoreland County last night turned their fire on the "Turnercrats".

This is their name for the Democratic courthouse organization which they say is bossed by Chief County Detective Arthur B. (Buddy) Turner of Rostraver Twp.

The GOP candidates appeared at a meeting of party workers in the CIO Hall at New Kensington. About 50 persons were present.

The brunt of the assault on the "Turnercrats" was carried by Avra N. Pershing Jr., one of the three GOP candidates for common pleas judge.

Also speaking briefly were Robert H. Rial, another judicial candidate, and Wayne R. Donahue, GOP nominee for district attorney. The third Republican judgeship candidate, Willis E. Topper, was not present.

In the hardest hitting speech of the county campaign to date, Pershing heaped criticism, not only on his Democratic opponents, but also on the Democratic judges for participating in the campaign in violation of judicial ethics.

"The time has come," Pershing said, "for the people of Westmoreland County to become fully aware of the actual partisan activities of their present judges. Then they must stir themselves and do something about it, namely elect judges pledged to correct these practices."

Pershing read a letter which he had addressed to Judges Richard D. Laird, Charles D. Copeland and John M. O'Connell, who last week made public endorsements of the Democratic judicial nominees, Judges Edward G. Bauer and David H. Weiss and District Attorney Alex Sculco.

In the letter Pershing cited the Canons of Judicial Ethics, which

Hoffa Facing New Charges

Capital Hearings Reopened

WASHINGTON (UP)—Senate investigators ripped into Teamster czar James R. Hoffa today with new "shakedown" charges that could affect his bid for the presidency of the giant trucking union.

The Senate Rackets Committee, reopening hearings on Hoffa, indicated he probably will be recalled to the witness chair for another grilling before he stands election at the Teamsters convention next week.

Committee Chairman Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) said broad new evidence linking the Teamster vice president with "shakedowns" and misuse of union funds amounting to as much as $150,000 made Hoffa's recall under subpena "probability."

When it recessed an investigation of him last month the committee said it was "inviting" Hoffa to attend the new hearings but would not order him to appear. However, the scope of the new evidence apparently led to a switch in committee plans.

Hoffa Aides Called

Hoffa, in Miami Beach, Fla., for the convention, said Monday night he had not yet been served with a subpena. He said his lawyers were still studying the question of whether he would accept the invitation to attend.

To lead off the new hearings today, McClellan called six of Hoffa's Teamster aides from Detroit, his home stamping ground, for questioning about "loans" which Hoffa said they made to him.

Committee aides said the six will be asked whether — and to what extent — sums ranging up to $2,000 were handed willingly to Hoffa by subordinates greatly indebted to him.

The committee, McClellan said, expects to hear at least 25 witnesses on 12 topics, eight of them "entirely new." He said the hearing could extend over into next week.

McClellan confirmed that the committee would take testimony regarding evidence that Hoffa loaned about one million dollars in union funds to a Minneapolis department store, part of it during a Teamster-supported strike of store clerks.

from spreading into a full-grown race riot.

FBI agents, working with city police and state troopers, broke up a caravan of about 100 automobiles of suspected night riders before it could reach the trouble centers in the Negro quarters and around Central High School, focal point of the controversy.

Authorities hoped they could contain the violence, lest President Eisenhower, who issued a cease-and-desist proclamation Monday night, should invoke his authority and call in federal troops.

Five persons were injured in one of the more serious brawls. A Negro airman struck a state policeman's leg with his automobile and then fled. The state policeman and other law enforcement authorities gave chase, firing at the automobile which eventually careened and crashed in a residential backyard. The airman, a Negro civilian and three girls in the automobile were injured.

One man's skull was fractured by a rock, police reported.

Violence broke out shortly after nine Negro students entered Central High surreptitiously Monday on the basis of a ruling handed down last Saturday by the U.S. District Court.

The Negroes were spirited out of the school with a police escort after angry mobs of segregationists milled about the building.

The tension was so great this morning that Negro leaders said the children would not attempt to go to school again today unless Eisenhower assured their safety.

Eisenhower cleared the way for using U.S. troops to put down violence by proclaiming that segregationists had made it "impracticable" to enforce the laws by judicial proceedings.

What the President meant was the swinging, bloodthirsty crowd that forced the Negro students to be removed from the school for their own safety.

The nine Negro students left the school by a side entrance about noon Monday, three hours after Central High had been integrated.

Eisenhower, on vacation in Newport, R.I., was scheduled to confer with Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell on what action to take if Little Rock segregationists refuse to obey his cease-and-desist proclamation.

Flare Sighted Near Spot Where Windjammer Sunk

SANTA MARIA, Azores (UP)—The British freighter Tacoma sighted a flare early today in the area where the German windjammer Pamir foundered in a hurricane Saturday with 86 persons aboard.

Hopes rose that as many as 30 crewmen and cadets survived the disaster that had plunged all Germany into mourning.

At the same time an American search plane reported sighting unidentified debris floating near the flare point, about 650 miles southwest of the Azores.

Twelve U.S. Air Force and Navy planes and nine ships were directed to criss-cross the sector, west of the spot where five survivors were picked up Monday by the American freighter Saxon.

The five told their rescurers a second lifeboat had been launched from their square-rigger Saturday and it was believed to have contained 25 crewmen.

Everett Man Is Killed in Crash

EVERETT, Pa. (UP) — Alton E. Wright, 36, of Everett, was killed Monday in a two-car collision on Route 30, about four miles east of here.

State police said Wright's car and one driven by Richard Markle, 19, of Breezewood, collided about 4 p.m. Wright, riding alone, was identified as the operator of a motel at Breezewood.

Markle and a passenger in his car, Allen Bequeath, 17, also of Breezewood, were both reported in fair condition at Bedford County Memorial Hospital.

Youth Accused of Beating Another

Bernard Muchler, 13, of 1264 Morgan Ave., Monessen, told police that a 14-year-old neighbor boy beat him up, took his bicycle and then broke a wheel on the vehicle after riding about town.

Police withheld the other boy's name. He has been released into the custody of his parents and is to appear before Chief of Police Michael Kuvinka Saturday morning.

Car Aerial Broken

Walter Carney, Charleroi, told Monessen police that some vandal broke off an aerial on his car while it was parked on Schoonmaker Ave. near Fourth St. last night.

Railroad Commuting To Be Thing of Past

By ROBERT G. SHORTAL

NEW YORK (UP) — The nation's commuters are bewitched, bothered and bewildered by recent developments in the railroad industry.

A representative of the bus industry says that within 10 years the railroads will be out of the passenger business. A top railroad official hints there may be more fact than fiction in that statement.

Commuters, who have seen fares rise steadily in the postwar period, are puzzled by the remark that railroads can make more money hauling pigs than passengers.

Arthur H. Hill, a top executive of Greyhound Corp., said flatly last week that within 10 years the 185 million people now traveling by train will be riding buses or airplanes.

Robert T. Anderson, general traffic manager of the Santa Fe System, said his railroad is holding its own on the passenger end and has no plans for abandoning this operation.

Sounds Warning

However, Ernest C. Nickerson, passenger vice president of the New York Central, warned that the railroads may have to give up their passenger business unless the government permits them to make some "realistic" adjustments.

He listed these as elimination of unprofitable trains and services and consolidation of main line trains and services.

The railroads say they lose 700 million dollars a year from passenger operations, which must be deducted from their profitable freight operations. They say this is an unfair tax on their freight customers.

The railroads have a good argument, although they've been slow, sometimes negligent, in telling it to the public. That's one reason why their efforts to win new legislation and other more equitable treatment has been relatively unsuccessful.

Few people realize that in some states railroads must pay taxes on every mile of track, every tie, every station on their line. Each town takes its slice of the tax pie So do the states and the federal government.

Service Losses Heavy

The passenger deficit includes more than losses sustained carrying Joe Smith and his family from one place to another. The bulk of the losses actually are suffered on passenger services and the like—building, operating and maintaining stations, dining car facilities, mail.

Railroads point out that their competitors—the buses and airplanes—are, in a sense, subsidized because they use roads, airways, terminals, airports built and maintained with the taxpayer's money.

In addition, sweeping changes have taken place in the competitive positions of the railroads since the 1920's. In the passenger field, buses, airplanes and more importantly, the private autombile, have bitten deeply into the railroads' share of the over-all transportation business.

Railroad revenues, according to Standard & Poor's, have increased much slower than operating costs such as wages, fuel and materials.

Railroad industry leaders say their industry's greatest needs are equality of regulation and more freedom in rate-making.

Increasing Competition

Harry C. Murphy, president of the Burlington Railroad, said "still rigidly regulated as a monopoly, which it ceased to be more than 30 years ago, the railroad industry faces ever-increasing competition from other forms of transport which are subsidized to some extent by the taxpayer."

The passenger problem is more critical in the East than in some other areas of the country. The heavy concentration of people in the East requires the big commuter railroads to maintain a huge fleet of cars for use just twice a day—to bring commuters into the city in the morning and to take them home at night. The equipment is idle and non-productive the rest of the time.

Since the railroads can only go where there is track, the move to the suburbs and hinterlands has taken people away from the railroads. Now they are turning to buses and cars to go to work.

Too Many Railroads

Within the industry, there are 131 class I railroads, those grossing one million dollars or more a year. Industry spokesmen, such as Patrick B. McGinnis, president of the Boston & Maine Railroad, have stated many times that there are just too many railroads competing against each other for a limited amount of business.

McGinnis said the railroads will have to merge into a handful of giant systems, doing away with duplicate facilities and integrating their operations.

Right now, the Erie, Lackawanna and Delaware & Hudson are studying the feasibility of the three-way merger. The Erie and Lackawanna already have combined some of their operations in the interest of efficiency and economy.

County

forbid such endorsements by judges, and urged the three sitting judges to "repudiate" the endorsements.

"Our three local judges, now making public endorsement of our Democratic opponents," said Pershing, "certainly are not unaware that the administration of justice in Westmoreland County has been the subject of considerable suspicion and attack even without their present acts of public participation in this political campaign.

"They could not have forgotten the famous article printed in Colliers magazine about six years ago wherein Buddy Turner and two of the present Democratic judicial candidates whom they endorse were under fire as to the lack of law enforcement and the administration of justice in Westmoreland County."

The Colliers article mentioned Bauer and Sculco among others as being responsible for lax law enforcement against rackets. The article helped inspire a reform movement led by several scores of Protestant ministers known as "Operation: Crusade".

Pershing referred to the primary campaign last May in which the Turner group defeated a former assistant district attorney, Joseph M. Loughran, who bolted the organization and made a strong though unsuccessful independent race for judge.

"They could not have forgotten the vigorous attack made by Mr. Loughran upon Buddy Turner for controling the selection of candidates for judge.

"They cannot have forgotten the famous statement made during the primary campaign by the then Mr. David Weiss, since appointed a judge and one of the present three Democratic candidates, that while Mr. Loughran was his friend and a very good lawyer, it just was not his turn to run for judge as that must be determined by a small group of men in the courthouse.

"They cannot have forgotten the Turner domination in the selection of Mr. Weiss as the third Democratic candidate."

Pershing charged that Laird and Copeland "solicited and obtained Republican support when they were candidates on the ground that they claimed to be non-partisan and were entitled to bi-partisan support."

Yet, he said, neither friendship nor ethics kept the judges from endorsing the "Turner candidates".

"This would indicate that politics — Turner machine politics — come first with the present judges," Pershing said.

"Let the people of Westmoreland County rise up and establish the end of Buddy Turner's hold on law enforcement and the administration of justice. Do not vote Turnercratic! Vote Republican this time."

In his remarks, Rial said that all three of the Democratic judicial candidates, Bauer, Weiss and Sculco, were once registered Republicans.

Rial said the present campaign is not a fight between Republicans and Democrats.

"It's a fight between people who believe in good government and the Buddy Turner machine," he said.

Rial came within 700 votes of defeating Sculco for district attorney four years ago in an election marked by wholesale fraud in Sculo's behalf.

Donahue, whose home is in New Kensington, urged "independent Republicans to join disgusted Democrats in ridding the county of the Turnercrats."

The other speakers were candidates for city offices in New Kensington.

Stock Market Drop Reasons Are Listed

NEW YORK (UP) — The stock market has all but wiped out its steep rise of five months from Feb. 12 to July 12.

In that period the market rose $31,678,000,000. In the period from July 13 to the close Monday, the market declined $30,268,000,000.

Hence at the opening today the market was only $1,410,000,000 above its year's lows on the basis of valuation of all listed issues.

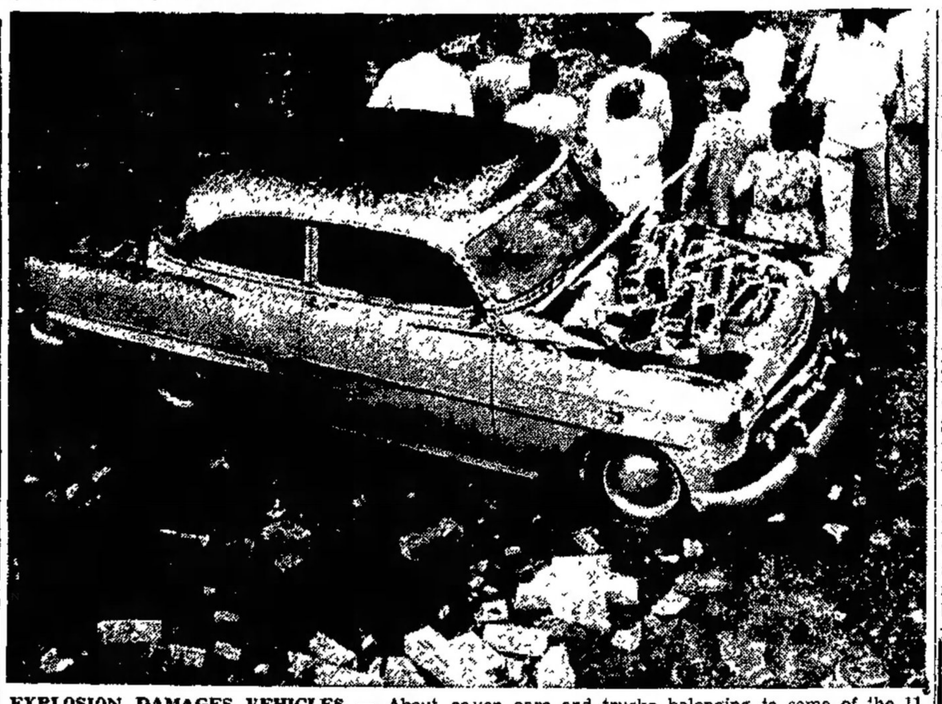
Many reasons have been given for this drop, which is one of the most severe since the bull market started on June 13, 1949. There was a more severe one on President Eisenhower's heart attack just two years ago.

These reasons include tight money, government economies in the talk stage, the Middle East uncertainties, foreign financial difficulties, notably in England and France, and a profit pinch on American corporations.

There were many others but the first one that seemed to rock the market was the profit pinch which became apparent at mid-July when reports of earnings for the second quarter were beginning to appear.

Since then the experts have been making predictions on a letdown in business for the fourth quarter and for next year.

The worst that has been said for 1958 is that the nation will operate on a high plateau with the boom slackening in pace. Employment is expected to remain high and so is natuonal income.



EXPLOSION DAMAGES VEHICLES — About seven cars and trucks belonging to some of the 11 men trapped by a blast in Marianna mine yesterday were badly shattered and covered with debris. and oxygen tanks were then lowered by rope.

Knizner, his hands badly burned was the first survivor pulled to the surface. Majeski, Krupzig, Sprowls and Nelson were then brought up.

Federal and state mine inspectors opened investigations today into the cause of the explosion. State Mine Inspector A. J. Narn refused to speculate on what touched off the tremendous blast.

Repairing Fan

Eleven workers were trapped in the soft coal pit. All but two were foremen or supervisory personnel who had gone into the shaft to repair a faulty fan.

Because of the faulty fan, which caused poor ventilation, the mine was closed for the day. Otherwise, more than 200 miners would have reported to work on the 7 a.m. shift. The blast occurred at 7:10. It blew a concrete block structure on the surface to pieces.

The mine elevator, used to carry miners into the pit, was also torn loose. Debris was tossed more than 20 feet into the air on the surface by force of the blast

Old Army Buddy Says Girard Shot 'As Joke'

SOMAGAHARA, Japan (UP — An old Army buddy testified today that Sp-3 William S. Girard shot and killed a Japanese woman metal scavenger as "a joke."

The charge was made by Army Specialist Victor Nickel of Inkster, Mich., at a dramatic confrontation on the actual firing range at Camp Weir where Girard killed Mrs. Naka Sakai last Jan. 30.

Nickel's testimony bolstered the prosecution's claim that the Ottawa, Ill., soldier deliberately lured Mrs. Sakai into a death trap and shot her to death as a prank.

Nickel reenacted the shooting before an unusual session of the Maebashi district court held on the range that had been turned into a quagmire by recent rains.

Judge Uuzo Kawachi of the Maebashi court asked Nickel at this third trial session, "Did you think Girard shot at the woman in fun?"

"Yes," Nickel replied. "For a joke."

But after Girard saw that the woman had been felled he seemed "shocked," Nickel testified.

auxiliary hospital setup at the mine.

Women's organizations from Marianna had long tables of freshly made sandwiches and coffee prepared for rescuers. It was a welcome respite for the men whose faces and hands were covered with heavy layers of coal dust and dirt. The men hurriedly gulped down their coffee and sandwiches and went back to their grim task.

Scores of news reporters and photographers were at the scene. A helicopter hovered over the area. Two television stations from Pittsburgh and one from Wheeling, W. Va., took hundreds of feet of film of the rescue operations.

State police, most of them from the Washington barracks, patrolled the grounds at the scene, keeping order and restraining the curious. Nevertheless, scores of persons, most with sad faces, milled about. None, however, got too close to workers.

The usual question by persons just arriving at the scene were:

"How many are dead?" "How many are left in there?" "Their poor families." Usually their questions went unanswered as most people didn't want to discuss the tragedy.

Members of the Salvation Army, including Capt. and Mrs. John Connors of the Monessen Citadel, were on hand to lend assistance. The Army moved a mobile canteen into the area in mid-afternoon.

Big Oil Strike In Ohio Near Pennsylvania Line

CONNEAUT, Ohio (UP) — Experts predicted today an oil strike made by a syndicate headed by millionaire wildcatter M. L. (Mike) Benedum on leased property near here may produce as much as 6,000 barrels a day.

Benedum, now 88, gave credit for the discovery to Earl Linn, a young geology graduate of the University of Pittsburgh. Oil field workers said the well came in Sunday in "gusher" proportions when the drilling reached the 3,292-foot level.

It was believed the new field was the largest discovery in the Pittsburgh area in 35 years. The well is located on 9,000 leased acres about 10 miles south of here near the Pennsylvania - Ohio border.

Donora Annexation Hearing Begins

Borough Wants 215 Acre Tract Of Land from Carroll Township

The borough of Donora started another attempt yesterday to annex a 215 acre tract of land from Carroll Twp.

Judge David H. Weiner heard testimony during the first annexation hearing in Washington County Court. He is scheduled to conduct another hearing tomorrow.

This is the second time Donora has gone to court in an effort to annex the area.

Last year the court disallowed the annexation petition when testimony proved that Borough Council failed to follow the law in transcribing votes of councilmen in overriding the veto of Burgess August Z. Chambon.

Since that time, the borough has gone through the same procedure of passing an ordinance on the basis of a petition for annexation by property owners in the land to be annexed.

Four in Protest

And once again, Carroll Twp. officials and land owners are back in court protesting the annexation. Four protesting witnesses were called yesterday. They included Michael J. Yavorsky, Frank L. Cadler, J. Glenn Carson, president of the Board of Supervisors, and Frank Ivey, secretary to both the supervisors and the school directors.

If the court rebuffs the petition, the borough will have to wait five years before making another attempt.

Judge Weiner will take all of the testimony in the case, but the decision will be made by the full court after oral arguments.

Among other things, the court will be asked to decide if the borough is permitted to begin annexation proceedings without waiting five years. Attorneys for the borough contend that the waiting period is not necessary since the previous petition was disallowed on a legal technicality.

The land in question is located adjacent to Donora on the western side.

Chamber in Charleroi to Act on Land

Members of the Charleroi Chamber of Commerce will meet Wednesday, Oct. 2, to act on a proposed sale of four acres of land in Recreation Park to the U. S. Army.

David S. Bosson, executive manager of the Charleroi Chamber, said that the Army has offered $24,750 for the tract, on which will be located a reserve training center.

The sale has already been approved by trustees of the Community Park Fund and by the Chamber's Board of Directors.

Bosson said the entire Chamber membership will vote on the sale. He has mailed proxy forms to members in the event they are unable to attend.

The land in question is situated between the tennis courts and the baseball field at the park development.

Tentative plans for the training center call for office and class rooms, a drill hall and auxiliary rooms. When not in use by the Army, the building would be available for community affairs.

Woman's Car Rams Into Gasoline Truck

Leona Webb, 42, of 007 Monongahela Ave., Belle Vernon, received minor injuries early this morning when the car she was driving rammed into the rear of a gasoline truck on Route 51 about two miles south of Elizabeth, state police reported. She did not require hospital treatment.

The truck was operated by Gustave J. Gerard Jr. of Uniontown. Damage was estimated at $900

AFL - CIO Ready To Blackball Teamsters Union

NEW YORK (UP) — The AFL-CIO high command is ready to blackball the Teamsters Union unless the Teamsters do an about-face, labor sources said today.

The federation's Executive Council, meeting in New York, also planned to issue clean-up-or-get-out directives to the Bakery Workers and United Textile Workers.

The Teamsters, largest union in the nation, spurned repeated invitations to appear before the council on charges that it is dominated by corrupt leaders.

In Miami Beach, retiring President Dave Beck was blunt.

"We can damn well handle our own business," he wired George Meany, AFL-CIO president, in a new burst of defiance.

Moves leading to expulsion of the 1,400,000-member trucking union are expected from the 29-member Executive Council.

Renewed claims by Midwest Teamsters boss James R. Hoffa that he is a sure thing to succeed Beck at forthcoming union elections have increased AFL - CIO determination to act.

A two-hour meeting of the AFL-CIO's eight-man executive committee Monday night set the stage for quick action on charges against the three unions.

Fraternal Groups To Meet Sunday

A meeting of the Westmoreland County unit of the Pennsylvania Federation of Fraternal and Social Organizations will be held Sunday at 2:30 p. m. at the Grapeville Volunteer Fire Co. Hall.

All district fraternal and social groups are invited to send representatives.

More Testimony in Hoxsey Trial Today

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Additional testimony was scheduled today at a non-jury trial in Federal Court where the government is seeking a permanent injunction against treatment of out-of-state patients at the controversial Hoxsey Cancer Clinic at Portage, Pa.

There were two major developments when the trial opened on Monday. Federal Judge John L. Miller refused to disqualify himself from the case on a defense charged that he was "biased and prejudiced." And the prosecution entered into the court record three pre-trial admissions by the defense.

Judge Miller said he would file reasons later why he would not step out of the case, as was requested by former state Sen. John J. Haluska, administrator of the clinics and one of the defendants in the trial.

When Miller ordered the trial to begin, Assistant U. S. Atty. Thomas J. Shannon revealed that pre-trial defense admissions showed:

—The clinic made $200,000 last year.

—Haluska had asked that his monthly salary as administrator be increased from 600 to 1,000 a month. Shannon said several check stubs showed Haluska received as much as $3,000 a month

—That the publisher of a Midwest magazine was paid by the clinic to print a book - sized pamphlet which Shannon claimed was given to patients for public relations purposes.

Shannon also charged that pills given to patients paying $400 for treatment are currently selling for $1.55 per thousand.

The federal government wants a permanent injunction which would prohibit the clinic from treating patients from other states.

Last fall the government, following a 23-day jury trial, was granted permission to destroy thousands of pills which had been seized in a raid at the clinic earlier. The prosecution said the pills were mislabelled and shipped illegally in interstate commerce Furthermore, the Federal Food and Drug Administration insisted the pills were "useless" in the treatment of cancer.

Harry M. Hoxsey, the Texas naturopath for whom the clinic at Portage was named, claims he has no financial interest in the Pennsylvania corporation.

Rosh Hashono To Be Observed By Local Jews

Rosh Hashono, the Jewish New Year, will be ushered in tomorrow at sundown with impressive services at Kneseth Israel Synagogue, Monessen, beginning at 7 o'clock.

Arrangements for Jewish New Year, 5718, as well as Yom Kipper, the Day of Atonement, were made last week by Rabbi Theodore Stampfer, members of the religious committee and Herman Albert, congregation president.

Members of the religious committee are Herman Greenstein, chairman, and Sam D. Stern, A. E. Wilen and Herbert Krause.

The Jewish New Year, which determines when all holidays of the Jewish faith are to be observed, is according to ancient tradition.

The high moment of the holiday service is the sounding of the ram's horn, the Shofar, as prescribed in the Bible.

Bus Tokens to Be Eliminated

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Public Utility Commission has authorized the elimination of a 12½ cent token fare by the DeBolt Lines, Inc., Homestead, effective Sept. 30.

The firm said elimination of the tokens and the use of its straight 15 cent cash fare will produce approximately $11,100 more revenue annually, but added that the move is primarily designed to divert short-haul riders to competing lines so its through riders may be accommodated.

All other fares, ranging from 10 to 35 cents, and 10 cent school fares remain unchanged.

A&P Building in Monongahela Started

Excavation started today for a new Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co. building in Monongahela on West Main St.

The new building will have 1,000 square feet of space when completed. It is being constructed by Frank A. Pizzica and will be leased on a long term basis by the A&P.

Charleroi Needs a 'Parente'

A Charleroi councilman charged this week that the borough is being "shortchanged" on state highway improvements because "we have no Hugo Parente to go to bat for us."

The remark was made after Councilman Robert Rickard called attention to the fact that the state plans to repave two streets in downtown Monessen.

Rickard said he wasn't prompted by any "civic jealousy" but thought Council should determine why the state paved Monessen streets while ignoring Charleroi's streets.

Earlier this year the state highway department took over maintenance of both Donner and Schoonmaker avenues in Monessen. Those streets carry Route 906 north and south through the city.

Rickard pointed out that a similar situation exists in Charleroi where McKean and Fallowfield avenues carry Route 88. The state has taken over maintenance of McKean, but has declined to accept responsibility for Fallowfield.

The Charleroi council members offered no objections when it was suggested that Mayor Parente might have influenced the state's decision in favor of Monessen. Parente is a state workmen's compensation referee and is reportedly influential in Gov. George M. Leader's Democratic administration.

Charleroi has asked the state several times to take over Fallowfield, but with no success.

Three Buildings Are Entered In Monongahela

Nothing was reported missing after the doors of offices on upper floors of three buildings on Main St., Monongahea, were found jimmied over the weekend, Chief of Police William Urban reported yesterday.

Urban said that all doors leading to offices on the second and third floors of the Western Pennsylvania National Bank building had been jummied but that a preliminary check revealed that money left in drawers in some offices was untouched.

Shops were removed from the doors of the offices of the Dutch Builders, LaMode Beauty Salon, Dr. William McElvany, and Engineer A. L. McVicker above the McCrory Five and Ten in the Towner Building, Second and Main Streets, but apparently no entry was made.

Salary Set for Deputy Sheriff

Joseph Pagac, newly-appointed deputy sheriff in Washington County, was granted a monthly salary of $309 yesterday by the county salary board.

Pagac was placed on the staff to help during the illness of another deputy, August Z. Chambon, Donora.

Charleroi Legion Installs Officers

Eugene B. Siegel was installed as commander of Charleroi Post 22, American Legion, this week by state commander John W. Collins

Also installed was Mrs. Albert Karlowski, president of the Post's Ladies Auxiliary.

'DULLESEUM' — This building which looks something like a woman's headgear creation, is Congress hall in West Berlin. It's America's contribution to the Berlin Building exhibition, and is called the "Dullescum" by some. It is located deliberately near the East Berlin border as a taunt to the Red sector's lagging in the reconstruction field.

Red Arms Shipments Blasted by Britain

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP)—Britain warned today that Russia's massive arms deliveries to the Middle East may be to "pre-stock forward bases for the Soviet Union itself."

British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd, in a policy speech to the United Nations General Assembly, appealed to the Russians "to perceive the dangers of their policies of increasing tension." He said he hoped "some idea of what is really happening will percolate through to the Syrian people."

On a more optimistic note, Lloyd said he believed progress on disarmament "is possible in the course of the next few weeks" and Britain would further such prospects "in any way we can."

But he said a comprehensive disarmament plan covering all stages "is not practical politics at this moment."

Hits Arms Shipments

Lloyd called the Middle East "the area of greatest tension at the moment."

"What has been the new factor over the last year or two which has complicated the existing issues and done so much to promote anxiety and tension?" he asked.

"To my mind, it is the deliveries of Soviet bloc arms—tens upon tens of millions of pounds worth. Certain of the Arab states have had to mortgage their economic resources to pay for them and probably have done permanent damage to their economies.

"The arms themselves are more likely to cause trouble than to prevent it. There are some who believe that the purpose behind this is to pre-stock forward bases for the Soviet Union itself. The deliveries are on such a scale as to give some color to this suggestion."

Lloyd said Britain views the situation in Syria "with grave concern."

"We have no wish to prescribe the form of government which Syria should have," he said. "Our desire is that Syria should be independent and should respect the independence of her neighbors. I do not think that the Syrian people have any idea of how far their true interests are being subordinated to those of the Soviet Union. The long-term bill will be a heavy one."

Lloyd said he "cannot conceive" that even the Russians believe their propaganda line about what is happening in Syria. He agreed with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles that the Soviet action in the Middle East should be regarded by the U.N. as "indirect aggression."

Nuclear Shot Is Delayed Again

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UP — The Atomic Energy Commission Monday night announced a 24 - hour postponement in its "Charleston" nuclear shot because of radioactive contamination from a previous test at the Nevada proving grounds.

Scientists rescheduled "Charleston," the 23rd and next - to - last shot of the series, for 5:30 a.m. e.d.t. Wednesday "Charleston" will be triggered from a balloon 1,500 feet above the desert and have a force of more than 20,000 tons of TNT.

Firemen to Meet

The Washington County Firemen's Association will meet Saturday at 8 p. m. in the West Alexander Fire Hall, it was announced today by Secretary Charles L. Weaver.

Honduras Vote Totals Recorded

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (UP) —The opposition Liberal Party captured 22 of the 58 seats in the Constituent Assembly, according to latest official returns today from Sunday's elections.

The total was just two seats short of an absolute two - thirds majority in the assembly which is scheduled to convene Oct. 21 to draft a new constitution. It is empowered also to elect a new president, if it so desires.

Returns from 12 of 18 departments in Honduras gave the Nationalist Party 18 seats and the National Reform Movement four.

Four persons were killed in gunfights during the elections.

Files for Divorce

Priscilla L. Chambers, 509 Short St. Belle Vernon, has filed a divorce complaint in Washington County Court against Direll Harry Chambers, 707 Crest Ave., Charleroi, charging indignities to the person. They were married Aug. 10, 1933, and were separated on June 15, 1957.

This Fellow Is Determined to Go to College

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UP) — Maybe everybody thought so later, but Rex Parton wasn't kidding when he registered at the University of Tennessee 21 years ago.

It was just that things kept coming up.

First-off, Parton was offered a good-paying lumber camp job in Oregon, so he decided higher education could wait a while.

Seven years later the idea of owning his own restaurant lured Parton once again from matters academic.

He acquired a wife and two daughters, too, who had to be supported.

Then World War II came along, another delay.

But now business is good, the family is well taken care of and Parton is a freshman at the University of Tennessee, heading for a law degree.

Says Doctors Out to Destroy Welfare Fund

PITTSBURGH (UP)—A United Mine Workers committee, representing some 4,000 miners in the Allegheny Valley - Kiski areas, has charged that the Pennsylvania Medical Society was out to "destroy" the UMW Welfare Fund.

Francis McCallister, chairman of the Miner's Hospital Committee at nearby Curtisville, made the charge in answer to a resolution passed by the society at a meeting here last Tuesday.

The society's resolution declared that any doctor "who knowingly and willingly participates" in any plan which "denies its beneficiaries the right of free choice of physician, or free choice of hospital, as defined by the American Medical Assn. Guides for relationship with the UMW fund, shall upon conviction. . .be declared guilty of unethical conduct."

McCallister said any move to brand UMW doctors "unethical" would be met with a law suit.

"The State Medical Society and its constituent societies can be assured that any threats or charges of unethical conduct made against physicians participating in such programs (as the UMW Welfare Fund) will be met with legal action by physicians, trade unions and other interested parties."

McCallister said a statewide committee will be established to defend any physician in the state from "intimidation or change of unethical conduct by the state or county medical societies."

He said the committee will be prepared to enter suit against the medical societies if the public is "denied medical service as a result of this intimidation."

"Furthermore," said McCallister, "any threat or other intimidating action will be brought to the attention of the state attorney general's office as well as the anti-trust division of the United States Department of Justice.

"The recent action by the state Medical Society is aimed at destroying the miners' fund and similar medical plans by converting them into agencies whose sole function is to pay bills without regard to quality or cost."

Why Must Judges Avoid Politics?

YESTERDAY in this space we were discussing the subject of judicial ethics with special reference to the participation of three Westmoreland County judges in partisan politics.

It may seem to some readers that this is an abstruse question having little to do with the practical realities confronting the average citizen. Judicial ethics, some may feel, are for lawyers to argue about — they mean nothing to us. After all, judges have to be elected — why shouldn't they engage in politics the same as other elective public officials?

The question deserves thoughtful consideration by all citizens, particularly those who are eligible to vote in the Nov. 5 election. For Westmoreland County this year is filling three of the four places on its common pleas court, and the three judges to be elected will serve terms of ten years each. The election therefore is going to decide what kind of justice Westmoreland County is to have for a whole decade.

So let's see what's behind the tradition that a judge shall be above partisan politics. Just why is it so important to the average citizen that judges should not participate in campaigns when they are not themselves candidates? Why should the ordinary voter concern himself with this question of judicial ethics?

* * *

CANON 28 of the Canons of Judicial Ethics of the American Bar Association says: "It is inevitable that suspicion of being warped by political bias will attach to a judge who becomes the active promoter of one political party as against another."

In less formal language what this means is that a judge who engages in political activities is likely to lose his independence of judgment. He is apt to become so involved in his political interests that he can't interpret the law and administer justice impartially whether he wants to or not.

And this is exactly what has happened in Westmoreland County already. The Democratic courthouse organization considers the judges as ordinary office-holders. It requires them to endorse candidates, make political speeches, contribute to campaign funds and otherwise function as part of the party machine. A couple of the judges are even policy-making leaders of the organization.

The result is that when a citizen goes into the courtroom and looks up at the bench, he sees there a man who is only half a judge. The other half is politician. And the politician carries a burden of political debts and alliances that is bound to hamper the judge in the performance of his duties.

* * *

THIS QUESTION of judges and their political activities has given this country concern almost since its founding. Various remedies have been proposed, including plans for the appointment, rather than the popular election, of judges. All of our federal judges are appointed and hold office for life as a means of keeping the federal courts as free as possible of partisanship.

But for our part we are not ready to say that the people should not have a direct voice in the selection of judges. We believe a good case can be made for it.

But the case falls apart when judges insist upon engaging in politics and thus surrender their independence and warp their judgment.

Every single judge now sitting in Westmoreland County has been guilty of this unethical conduct. And the three candidates representing the Democratic party in this election are all seasoned politicians with heavy obligations to a tightly controlled party organization. If they are elected, inevitably they can be no better than half judges, the other half being politician.

Only the people of Westmoreland County, using their ballots on Nov. 5, can prevent this and restore some degree of independence to the county's courts. Not to do so will surely mean still more mixing of politics with justice.

They Want Violence

THE LUNATICS among the die-hard segregationists of the South evidently have decided to make physical trouble at Little Rock. Their opening effort was a vicious mob attack yesterday on a defenseless Negro photographer.

The Arkansas Gazette, a courageous newspaper published in Little Rock, assures us that these law-breakers constitute only a "tiny, militant minority" and are not representative of the people of Little Rock. We feel sure the Gazette is right about it.

But whether the mob is large or small makes no difference. The mob cannot be allowed to rule. That is a principle which goes to the bedrock of any organized society.

Decent men and women everywhere hope the difficult problems of racial integration in the South can be worked out peaceably. Force is an answer to none of these problems.

But if the lunatic fringe is determined to have violence, the forces of law and order will have to accomodate them. And we suppose that might just as well take place at Little Rock as anywhere else.

Crackdown on Cigarette Ads Is Expected

(Editor's Note: While Drew Pearson is touring the Mediterranean, his column is written by his junior partner.)

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — The House subcommittee which has been investigating the tobacco-cancer controversy will definitely crack down on cigarette advertising.

Chairman John Blatnik (D.,-Minn.) has ordered the staff to draft a strong report, scorching the Federal Trade Commission for its failure to protect the public from harmful cigarette advertising.

Blatnik rejected a proposed staff report that simply called on the FTC to consider the "scientific evidence" as to whether cigarettes cause lung cancer. He sternly ordered the staff to rewrite the report and put some teeth in it.

Meanwhile, another committee member, Congresswoman Martha Griffiths (D., Mich.), has asked the radio-television networks to offset their tobacco advertising by telling the other side of the story. She wrote identical letters to the four big networks, which make millions from cigarette commercials.

"It is respectfully requested," she wrote, "that you authorize public service time on your network — radio and TV — for the United States Public Health Service to present its findings to the American public on the relation of smoking to lung cancer."

All except the Mutual Broadcasting System turned her down on the excuse that their news programs had already covered the public health findings. However, Mrs. Griffiths hasn't given up. She believes the networks have a duty to the public as well as to their commercial sponsors.

Mrs. Griffiths believes President Eisenhower himself should introduce Surgeon General Leroy Burney for a nation-wide report to the public on cancer and cigarettes.

News Nuggets

Pocketbook pressure —. The White House tried to bring financial pressure on Gov. Orval Faubus to settle the segregation crisis in Arkansas. So confided presidential spokesman Jim Hagerty the other day to friends. Ear-witnesses quote him as saying the White House counted on its big-business connections to break Faubus' resistance. Here's how it was supposed to work: Ike' Wall Street friends would bear down on Arkansas businessmen who could influence Faubus.

Moon or bust — The Air Force's plan to shoot a research rocket 4,000 miles into space will be a preliminary jump toward the moon. The Ford-built rocket will be launched from a balloon 20 miles above Eniwetok atoll in the Pacific. By beefing up the rocket and using a larger balloon, Pentagon scientists hope to sent the rocket the full 239,000 miles to the moon. They believe they can deliver scientific instruments on the moon by the end of next year.

No pessimism allowed — Secretary of State Dulles has hushed up trouble-shooter Loy Henderson's gloomy report on the Middle East. To disclose Henderson's findings, Dulles told subordinates, would only publicize Soviet successes. The public has a right to know, however, what Henderson reported. He warned that our three stanchest allies in the Arab world — Iraq, Jordan and Lebanon — are in grave danger of being overthrown by the Soviet-Syrian-Egyptian underground. Unless the United States acts urgently, he said, the west will wake up to find Russia firmly entrenched in the Middle East in a position to choke off oil to the west.

Seaway Sabotage

The railroad lobby is behind the move to transfer the St. Lawrence Seaway project from the Army Engineers to the Commerce Department. This would permit Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks, past director of the Pullman Company, to set the shipping tolls.

What the railroads hope to do is sabotage the Seaway by setting the tolls so high that shipping companies can't afford to use it. Then the railroads wouldn't have to worry about cargo ships competing with freight trains along the Seaway route.

The Army Engineers are now in the middle of constructing the great canal. But the railroad lobby is pulling strings with assistant president Sherman Adams to transfer the project to the Commerce Department before the tolls are fixed.

Adams has circulated a secret memo among cabinet officers to get their views on the proposed transfer. This has touched off a feud between Weeks, who favors the move, and Secretary of the Army Wilber Brucker, who is against it.

The final outcome depends on who can put the most pressure on President Eisenhower, who didn't even know what was going on until last week.

West Is Losing Arms Debate

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

LONDON — The United States and the West are definitely losing the disarmament debate to the Russians before the jury of world opinion.

This can prove to be a grievous world-wide setback.

As viewed from this side of the Atlantic, the outlook is not improving; it is getting worse.

Mr. Drummond

Only if the most respected Western leaders show the initiative and the imagination to go before the world with a far more clearer and more appealing exposition of where the West stands on disarmament and why, is there any fair prospect that we can counter the Kremlin's deceptive but simple appeal: Stop the tests; promise never to use the bomb.

If we fail to do this we are not only going to lose a propaganda battle of large proportions, we may well find ourselves boxed in by the pressures of world opinion and forced to capitulate to Moscow's version of a disarmament treaty — which thus far is mostly loopholes and no disarmament.

Why Talks Ended

What is happening is not yet entirely in the open, but those who have been close to events throughout the long, now stale-mated arms conference here are now pretty confident why the Soviets suddenly decided to break off the five-power talks in London and shift the forum to the 82-nation U. N. General Assembly in New York.

The Soviets saw:

That they could not by themselves persuade or coerce the atom-possessing Western nations to end the tests of nuclear weapons without some preliminary agreement to end the production of nuclear weapons.

That because of the great publicity over radioactive fallout the Russians believed they could enlist a large U. N. vote behind their alluring but non-disarmament proposition that nothing need be done for the present but stop the tests.

Appearance of Progress

That the end result of this maneuver would be to produce an appearance that some real headway toward disarmament was taking place in the wake of which the Western democracies would be tempted to disarm unilaterally still further than we are already disarming. This would leave all production of atomic weapons uninspected and all guarantees against surprise attack conveniently put aside.

This is the maneuver we can expect from the Soviets in New York very very soon.

What are we going to do about it?

I am convinced that the Western disarmament case is not getting over, is not understood and is certainly not being accepted by the world at large. It is certainly not getting over here in Western Europe and I doubt if it has made any clear impression upon the people of the United States. The way it has been expounded makes it sound like the fine print on the back of some insurance policy — all conditions and few dividends.

Two Steps Urged

Something equal to the problem needs to be done — and quickly — before world opinion is captured and captivated by the Kremlin's non-disarmament prescription. Small measures will not suffice. I believe that two immediate and useful steps could be taken.

1 — The President of the United States and the prime ministers of Britain, France and Canada, speaking for the four Western nations which have been engaged in the London talks, should join in a solemn, candid, earnest report to the world on the positive disarmament actions which they are prepared to take if the Soviet Union is interested.

2 — President Eisenhower himself, speaking with all the respect and trust he commands, should go before the General Assembly of the United Nations to expound the Western disarmament program which, if Moscow wants disarmament, would mean to the whole world ending, not just the tests of atomic weapons, but the very manufacture of them.

These steps — or anything better — seem to me to be the very minimum that are needed.

Men Are Children

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UP)—A man tends to stay a child all his life and the sooner a woman realizes this fact, the better will be her health and disposition.

This observation about the male of the species comes from a man. What woman is so brave!

"Socially, and in business, men put up an adult front. But even the executive, a wheel during the day, frequently is the unpredictable kid at home," said Dr. John A. Schindler, a general practitioner, personal counselor, husband and father.

"From man's childish disposition come many feminine ills," said Schindler, author of a new book called "Woman's Guide to Better Living."

The physician said the medical profession is pretty well agreed that 50 to 75 per cent of all physical complaints are "emotionally induced." "Of these, three-fourths belong to women," said Schindler, in an interview.

"A woman patient complains of dizziness or pain in the chest," he said. "What she fails to tell me is that she and her husband aren't getting along.

"It is interesting that single women have fewer emotionally induced ills than single men. But married women have more than married men.

"Not because they are women, but because they are married to immature men. This is this physician's diagnosis, not that of his women patients."

"Men tend to stay kids all their lives," said Schindler, who is co-founder of the Monroe Clinic, Monroe, Wis. It is from his work with patients at the medical clinic that he got much of the material for his book, he said.

Dr. Schindler thinks we women should realize this childish tendency in men is "typical," and make the most of it—for our own sake as well as theirs. "A woman does good by being the sounding board at the end of the day... by being a man's sparring partner," he said, "but to keep her own health, and the marriage happy, she must hang onto her sense of humor."

Votes of Negroes May Alter South's Politics

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UP)—The uproar over racial integration in Southern schools has diverted attention from the fact that the federal government is moving again toward the political reconstruction of the South.

Such action is implicit in the 1957 civil rights bill. The federal government is committed again and aggressively will undertake to enable Southern Negroes to vote.

Mr. Wilson

This 20th Century effort is more likely to succeed than the treat-'em-rough methods used by congressional zealots against the beaten South in trying to establish the Negro politically during the years immediately after the Civil War.

Events Overtake South

Events have been overtaking the political South for some time, slowly at first but now with increasing momentum. Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1936 broke the back of Southern conservative influence in the national conventions of his party.

He did that by obtaining repeal of the 100-year-old convention rule by which a Democrat was required to obtain no less than a two-thirds majority of the delegate votes to win the presidential nomination. That rule enabled a minority of Southern delegates to prolong the 1924 Democratic National Convention through 103 ballots in a successful veto of the nomination of Alfred E. Smith, of New York.

Twelve years later, the veto rule was dead and the South was powerless or nearly so in the nominating conventions of the party which dominated every Southern state.

Southerners Are Ousted

Southern politicians tried in 1948 to re-assert their political power by a third party bolt in protest against the presidential nomination of Harry S. Truman. That strategy had to fail unless the Republicans could make a creditable showing against Truman outside the South, which the Republicans were unable to do.

More recently, Southerners have tried to establish themselves politically by voting for Republican presidential nominees, notably for President Eisenhower. That got them not much other than disappointment and a Supreme Court they don't like. Except in Congress, the political South has been ousted from the policy - making seats of the mighty.

Tito, Gomulka Seek Closer Cooperation

By CHARLES M. McCANN

President Tito of Yugoslavia and Wladyslaw Gomulka of Poland seem to have decided that Communist-ruled countries must cooperate more closely.

Exactly what Europe's two independent Communist leaders agreed upon in their recent conference in Yugoslavia is not clear.

Mr. McCann

But there are strong indications that they decided they must try to get along with Soviet Russia and its satellites for their own good, despite their pursuit of "different paths to socialism."

Their feeling seems to be that of Benjamin Franklin when he said at the signing of the Declaration of Independence in Philadelphia on July 4, 1776:

"We must all hang together, or assuredly we shall all hang separately."

It is likely that they had in mind the disputes in Russian leadership which led to the recent purge of Georgi M. Malenkov, Vyacheslav M. Molotov, and Lazar M. Kaganovich.

They may have felt that, as reports leaking out of Moscow indicate, the dissension in the Kremlin is not over and that Nikita S. Khrushchev may be facing trouble.

If the attitude of Tito and Gomulka—who as Polish Communist Party leader is his country's real ruler—is accurately suggested, it does not mean that either of them intends to put himself again under Soviet Russian domination.

During his conference with Gomulka, Tito said in a speech that they were not "national Communists."

In the joint statement issued at the ends of their talks, Tito and Gomulka expressed their approval of Russian foreign policy and spoke of the necessity for "strengthening the relations and cooperation" of Communist parties.

But they also emphasized "the different nature of the roads taken by various countries to socialism."

They said that "bi-lateral relations between Communist and workers parties should be particularly developed."

This means that Communist parties ought to develop direct relations with each other. Such direct relations would shove Russia out of any remaining pretense that it is the fountain-head of all Marxian wisdom.

Twenty Years Ago

Saturday, Sept. 24, 1927

Within a short time, Monessen will be the great white city. Such progress is being made at present that gives assurance that within a very short time the through streets and business section of the city will be almost as light as day. The West Penn Power Co. is busy at present erecting the entrance signs at both ends of the city, and when they are completed, and the current turned on, the reflection will be cast far up and down the streets and out into the hillsides.

Kay Semich Weds Robert J. Zebula

Kay Semich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Semich of Fairhope became the bride of Robert J. Zebula on Saturday, Sept. 28, in St. John the Baptist Greek Catholic Church of Uniontown. Mr. Zebula is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Zebula of Brownfield.

The couple exchanged vows before the Rev. Peter Hewko in a double ring rite. The church altar was decorated with vases of white pompons and chrysanthemums. White crash lined the church aisle and satin ribbons marked the family pews.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of dupioni silk over taffeta. It was styled with a fitted bodice with a V neckline trimmed in Chantilly lace, long tapered sleeves ending in points over the wrists and a bouffant skirt accented with back shirring and a full chapel sweep. A matching crown studded with seed pearls held her fingertip veil of sheer illusion. She carried a colonial bouquet of white pompons and stephanotis.

Maid of Honor

The bride had asked Gloria Steinberg to be her maid of honor. Stella Semich, her sister, was bridesmaid. They were identically attired in ballerina length gowns of peacock blue nylon styled with a fitted bodice, shirred portrait neckline, short sleeves and a permanent pleated skirt. They wore matching feathered headpieces studded with rhinestones and accented with brief veils. They wore matching shoes and mitts and carried colonial bouquets of bronze pompons.

Charles Bednar of Uniontown was best man and George Brnich of Brownfield was usher. Both are cousins of the bridegroom.

Flower Girl

Dorothy Bauer of Monessen was flower girl. She is a niece of the bride. Her gown was styled of bronze taffeta with a fitted sleeveless bodice and shawl collar with a bow at the neckline. She wore a matching headband and mitts and carried a wicker basket of white daisy pompons.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Semich wore a navy blue chiffon dress with dior blue accessories and a corsage of white pompons. The mother of the bridegroom wore a beige lace dress trimmed in satin with dark brown accessories and a corsage of bronze pompons.

A wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents for the immediate families. The reception was held at Celapinos in the afternoon for about 150 relatives and friends. A four tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bridal couple centered the bridal table.

Guests attended from Scranton, Detroit, Mich.; Rillton, Westmoreland City, Uniontown, Brownfield, Republic, Fairchance, Connellsville, Dunbar and area towns.

Virginia Trip

When the couple left for a two week trip to Virginia, the bride was wearing a gray pin check sheath dress with a dove gray chiffon bow, matching accessories and a corsage of white pompons.

The new Mrs. Zebula was graduated in 1952 from Bellmar High School and is employed in the Fayette County bridge department in Uniontown. Her husband was graduated in 1950 from South Union High School. He served in the Korean campaign and is now employed in the maintenance branch of the bridge department. They plan to reside temporarily with the bridegroom's parents.

HOME FROM TRIP — Mr. and Mrs. Lauren Roland Cousins are residing at 1827 Rosedale St., Verona, following their southern wedding trip. They were wed in the Belle Vernon Church of the Nazarene, Aug. 31, at 2:30 p. m. The bride is the former Harriet June Greenwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Greenwood of Belle Vernon R. D. 2. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Cousins of Mercer.

In two weeks the club will meet at the home of Esther Learnard.

Shirley June Fritz Weds Area Man

Solemnized in the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church of Brownstown on Saturday, Sept. 14, was the marriage of Shirley June Fritz to John Robert Pelkey. The bride is the daughter of Mr. Martha Fritz of Fayette City, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Violet Pelkey of North Charleroi.

Vows were exchanged at 2:30 in the afternoon before the Rev. Roland M. Gray, church pastor. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, William T. Fritz. Jack Hoyes, Charleroi, was soloist, and Mrs. Iris Thomas, Fayette City, was at the piano.

Cibotium fern, palms, gladiolus and pompons were used in the decoration of the church sanctuary. White crash lined the church aisle and white satin bows marked the family pews.

Bridal Gown

The bridal gown was fashioned of Chantilly lace with a long torso bodice, long sleeves and high pointed collar. The full skirt of nylon tulle was in three tiers and was worn over a hoop. A pearl crown held her veil of illusion, and she carried a white bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Albert Parrish of Finleyville, sister of the bride, was her honor attendant. She wore an orchid ensemble with a matching hat and carried a colonial bouquet. Mrs. Robert Fritz, sister-in-law of the bride, was a bridesmaid. Her attire was pink and she carried a colonial bouquet. A yellow ensemble was chosen by the other bridesmaid, Karen Fritz, sister of the bride.

Flower girls were Cindy Steiner of Fayette City and Patty Schaum of Charleroi. They wore white ensembles and carried colonial bouquets.

Harry Tharp of Cleveland, Ohio, was best man. Ushers were Robbert Fritz and William Gusick. John A. Ramsey, Perryopolis, was ring bearer.

The mother of the bride wore a gray dress with black accessories and a red rose corsage. The mother of the bridegroom wore an orchid and black nylon print with a red rose corsage.

A wedding reception was held at the home of Mrs. Louella Schaum, sister of the bridegroom in North Charleroi.

Guests attended from Perryopolis, Belle Vernon, Fayette City, Finleyville, Donora, Monessen and Florida.

Leave for Trip

The bride was wearing a gray and black tweed effect dress with black accessories and a white orchid corsage, when the couple left for an unknown destination for their wedding trip. They plan to reside in Cleveland.

The bridegroom was graduated from Charleroi High School and is employed at J and L in Cleveland, Ohio. The bride, a Bellmar graduate, was formerly employed at Sully's here.

Mrs. Alex Livingston, aunt of the bride, entertained at the rehearsal party the evening before the rites. The bridal couple presented gifts to the members of the wedding party.

ON THE BALL

Niccolai Happy But Not Satisfied

Although happy that the Greyhounds had won their contest with Monongahela Friday night to get off on the right foot in the Big Five Conference, Greyhound coach Armand Niccolai says he sees a lot of work to be done yet with the Hounds . . . "We made a lot of mistakes we won't get away with against a more experienced eleven." . . . The Greyhound mentor also figures the Monongahela eleven is going to be heard from before too long with a nice looking group of sophomores in the starting lineup . . . Sluggishness, perhaps due to the "heavy" field at Monongahela, was Nick's biggest complaint for speed is what is needed with the Greyhounds' type of attack.

* * *

While Niccolai felt happy over the outcome of his contest, another coach, whose team we also witnessed in action Saturday afternoon wasn't so over-joyed . . . Naturally, we mean Johnny Michelosen, Pitt's bossman, who watched his Panthers go down to a downright embarrissing defeat at the hands of the Oklahoma Sooners . . . The Okies were so far superior to the Pitt eleven that it made for a very dull game after you got used to the burning speed of the Oklahomans. It seemed like such a long game and a check of the time proved it was a drawn-out contest with the third quarter taking 45 minutes to complete . . . We can't imagine the Panthers being that impotent all season, so we're thinking of better things . . . One item worth noting concerns the concensus of opinion that Jim Lenhart was the best Pitt quarterback on the field, offensively.

Dunlevy Dropping Soccer Big Surprise

What a surprise when Dunlevy decided it could not field a soccer team this season, the first time in years such a situation has existed in that hot-bed of the booting sport . . . The Redbird eleven was to have been coached by James (Crackers) Harrison, popular veteran soccer player from that area . . . They had played two exhibition clashes with Voorhis, winning one and tying one . . . Once before (during the Korean mess) Dunlevy merged with Roscoe to field a squad which was depleted by calls from Uncle Sam . . . Such a merger is again being rumored . . . Can't imagine Redbird fans standing for not having a soccer eleven representing them.

* * *

Brownsville High almost filled the open date on its schedule last Friday when a school from Clarksburg backed out at the last minute, leaving the Brownies idle . . . Mike Dupay, former Monongahela High footballer, is making a strong bid for the starting center post at Michigan U . . . Don Bartolomucci, ex-Brownsville High ace, and Norman McWilliams, formerly of Bethlehem Joint, have impressed Waynesburg College coach Johnny Popovich with their running from their backfield slots . . . The Mosely boys of Monessen started at guard and tackle respectively in the opener against Dennison, which the CSTC Vulcans lost 44-13, to a powerful visiting eleven.

MVC Teams Falling into 'Slots'

Although there were still some surprises, all in all the Mon Valley Conference teams are starting to fall into certain categories other than those designated . . . For instance, Donora apparently needs line help and therefore won't be as tough as anticipated until later in the season . . . Brownsville may be more rugged than predicted . . . Monongahela is improved but perhaps a year away from showing concrete evidence in the win column . . . Monessen remains a question mark until after a couple of tough ones like perhaps this week's Uniontown game . . . That brings us to Charleroi and unless the Cougars were stopped by Allegheny last night (after this was writen) which we seriously doubt, Rab Currie's lads appear to be "it" again in the Big Five although the real lowdown will come Friday night at Donora.

Four Uniontown Regulars Back

Junior Highs Await Openers

Rostraver Defends MV Crown

Rostraver Junior High School's Little Leopard grid team swings into the thick of things tomorrow afternoon at Marion Junior High's field at 1:30 o'clock to open defense of their Mon Valley Junior Conference crown.

Starters for the big game against a Marion team which is expected to "have something" this season, will be selected from a squad of 40 boys, which was pared down by head coach Ed Hogan and his capable assistant Bill Overand, from the 75 candidates which reported on the first day of drills.

Seven regulars from last year's championship team have graduated

Four Regulars Back

Returning, however, are regulars Dale Patterson, a tackle, Willie Ross, converted from an end to halfback; Ray Allen at halfback; and Tom Newman, first string center last season who has been shifted to a quarterback slot.

Other lettermen back include guards Tony Guth and Frank Peto with Peto now being converted to a fullback position.

At the other positions Hogan and Overand will choose from the following: ENDS — William Hewitt, William Gribbs, Jack Knuttila, Denny Sukel and Thornton Etherington. Tall and rangy but lack experience

TACKLES — Patterson, Lloyd Fisher, John Sholtis, Miles Johnston. Heavy but also "green" except for Patterson.

GUARDS — Guth, the only experienced hand and Ralph Conn, Jim Melton and Jeff Hichman.

CENTER — All new hands in Jack Wiley, Les Lunt, Bob Kopanic and Richard Ross.

BACKS — Allen the only experienced player. Showing promise are Glenn Markle and Nick Lorenzo at right half with Allen. Left half has Willie Ross, standout end last year, looking good here along with Bernie Forsythe and Jesse Burkes. At Fullback it's Peto, Paul Salizzoni and Tom Gilmer showing best but all inexperienced. Newman will undoubtedly be the quarterback with no opposition here.

Home Opener Oct. 4

The Little Leopards open their season at home on Oct. 4 with South Huntingdon's Juniors.

As RJHS Principal James Leeper puts it "the Leopards would welcome another winning season but the primary objective is to instill in the boys the spirit of teamwork and fair play which will come from playing under the leadership of fine men like Coaches Hogan and Overand." "Wholesome attitude which will stand the boys in good stead in later athletic endeavor in high school and college is most important," he added.

Rostraver Junior High Schedule

MHS Junior Varsity Posts 40-20 Victory

Monessen's High School's Junior Varsity got its 1957 season off to a flying start at the Stadium last night with a 40-20 victory over the McKeesport Jayvees.

Mixing a running attack with some terrific passing by quarterback Carl Payne the locals coasted to victory.

The scoring opened in the first quarter when the MHS Jayvees recovered a Monessen fumble on the visitor's 32 and two plays later Payne hit Richard Bass with a 29 yard pass for a TD. The point after failed and the locals led 6-0.

Payne Also Runs

A 50-yard touchdown play run by Payne, laterallying to James Lewitsky, who went over for the score and Payne to Ken Walters pass for the extra point made it 13-0, at the end of the first quarter.

Again uncorking his pitching arm Payne made it 20-0 with a short pass to Burns. Lewitsky swept end for a 20-0 count.

McKeesport suddenly came to life on a 28-yard pass play to within two-inches of a touchdown from where the quarterback sneaked over for a 20-6 score.

Brian Laszewsky got into the act for Monessen with a 57-yard touchdown pass play teaming with Lewitsky who tallied the twenty-sixth points. A short while later in the second period the halftime score of 26-13 was posted when Henderson ran 50 yards through coach Harry McCurdy's locals for a touchdown and the point was added.

Another to Toss

Last half point-making saw Payne hit Lewitsky this time with a 40-yard toss and then around end for the point after and a 33-13 margin. Lewitsky went five-yards around end for a pay-dirt dash and Laszewsky caught a Payne aerial for the extra point.

McKeesport ended the scoring on an end run by Henderson to the two-yard line and a "sneak." by Tusconelli. Adding the extra point made it 40-20.

Monessen led in first downs, 10-6. The locals completed three of eight passes to one of four for the visitors. Monessen was penalized 20 yards to McKeesport's 15.

Only One Vet Back At Vernon

Coach Kenny Clark of the Vernon Junior High Puppies can be excused for not being over-joyed over his 1957 grid prospects.

Only one letterman has returned from the 1956 team which posted a 2-3 record. He is Daryle Ruby, an end.

Limited By Enrollment

Clark, who is starting his ninth season as Vernon coach, is far from discouraged, however, despite the small enrollment which limits the man-power available. A credit to Clark, is the fact that although the school does not boast of an enrollment on a par with other junior highs in the area he still welcomed 50 candidates for the '57 squad.

That total is even larger than some of the other large schools like, for instance, Donora where only 20 reported.

The Vernon squad has now been trimmed to 33 for easier "working" as the coaches say.

Main drawbacks for the 1957 Vernon eleven is lack of size and experience but Clark's popularity plus his ability to get the most of boys as his .500 record with limited material over nine years will attest, are expected to carry it through in fine style.

Opener Away Tomorrow

With the opener at Perryopolis tomorrow at 3:30 o'clock, Clark will select his starters from the following players : Ruby, S. Greco, Don Bitonti, Terry Bercini, T. Johnston, R. Zeli, F. Strangis, F. Ambrose, Kenny Spina, Joe Lopez, L. Cheatam, Ron Feher, Wayne Silvania, Bill Hanchin and J. Koschalk.

The remainder of the squad includes: Jack Chester, T. Gay, G. Kenney, C. Lippincott, Andrew Kuhl, F. Lotti, Tom Manning, M. Davis, D. Hammerash, G. McKosky, N. Miller, J. Zino, Jeff Thompson, Al Varchulik, H. Neil, R Woodson and B. Johnston.

Vernon Schedule

Sept. 25 — at Perryopolis (3:30 p. m.)
Oct. 3 — at Fallowfield.
Oct. 10 — South Huntingdon (2:30)
Oct. 17 — at Marion

Bevy of Lettermen Gives Red Raiders Experienced Team

Coach Bill Power of Uniontown High School's Red Raider grid eleven, which will face Monessen High School's Greyhounds here Friday night in the home opener for the locals has four regulars back from last season's team which posted an 8-2 mark.

Leading the returnees is Sanford Stephens, an experienced quarterback. Others back from last year's first eleven include Fullback Frank Platz, and linemen Ron Firmani, a guard and Joe Lucosky, a tackle.

Her Lettermen Back

Other lettermen returning, however, number at least seven with Mike Natali and John Black at the guard posts. Joe Hrezo, another "U" winner will be at an end where he scored two touchdowns against Trinity last week.

Two other lettermen also man the end spots in Norman Howard and Harrison Vail.

In the backfield Gene Chambers and Bill Munsey, both letter-winners, are carrying a full load.

The center spot and tackle posts are manned by inexperienced hands as is the fullback position.

Star Back 'Out'

Uniontown received a tough blow when pint-sized speed king Eddie (Ben) Gay was advised to give up football after starring for two seasons.

With wins over German and Trinity under their belts tht experienced Red Raiders will be hard to handle.

Meanwhile, Coach Armand Niccolai of the locals reports the squad in pretty fair shape after the 20-7 win over Monongahela.

Tackle Bobo Aldrich, however, may also miss the coming Uniontown High contest just as he did the Wildcat clash due to a side injury which isn't completely healed.

McGuire Traded

NEW YORK (UP) Dick McGuire, one of pro basketball's greatest playmakers, has been traded by the New York Knickerbockers to the Detroit Pistons in exchange for Detroit's No. 1 draft choice next year. The 31-year-old McGuire played eight seasons with the Knicks and led the club in assists seven times.

Last Nights for Season Tickets

Monessen High Athletic Director Armand Mori announced today that season tickets to Monessen games would be sold tonight and tomorrow night, between 7 and 9 o'clock for the last time this season.

He stated that the season books would then be broken up for individual sale. Uniontown game ducats will be sold tomorrow night and Thursday nights.

Cougars Score Easy 41-6 Win

Four touchdowns in the first half were more than enough for Charleroi High's Cougar gridders over Pittsburgh Allegheny before 4,100 fans at Charleroi Stadium last night but the Cougars added two more six-pointers for a final 41-6 count.

It was the second Charleroi victory over a Pittsburgh team this season, topping Oliver last week, 47-0.

Ollie Payne tallied twice for Charleroi on pass plays from Ronnie Cosner of 57 and 27 yards while Bob Daugherty dashed 19 yards for a score, Joe Uhlman went 23 yards into pay dirt and sophomore Paul Strenlick's 15-yarder climaxed a 59-yard march in the fourth period.

Otis Wesley of the losers made the longest run of the game when he ran back a Cougar kickoff for 83 yards and a touchdown after the score was 41-0, Charleroi

DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

By CARY MIDDLECOFF

Attention, all bunker jumpers! Can you spot what today's player is doing wrong: For one thing, he's let his club dip below the horizontal on his backswing. One of the reasons today's player's club is below the horizontal line is that he relaxed his left-hand grip at the top of the backswing — a serious mistake.

He'll never get much power in to his swing because he hasn't rotated his hips or his shoulders correctly. When he swings down, most of his power will be wasted before the clubhead even reaches the ball. He also seems to have swayed a bit on his backswing, another thing which can be fatal to a golf swing.

Panthers Can Expect Speedy Opponent Again

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Coach Johnny Michelosen, busy reading over scouting reports on the Pitt Panthers' next opponent, said today he will hold three more practices here before the squad leaves for the West Coast.

Michelosen plans to use end coach Ernie Hefferle's scouting report on the Oregon Webfoots in priming the Panthers for their Saturday night battle at Portland, Ore. Pitt will fly to Portland Thursday morning.

Hefferle watched the Webfoots eke out a 9-6 victory over Idaho last Saturday. He said the Panthers, who are favored by six points, can expect much of the same speed that they encountered against Oklahoma, since Oregon has several track stars on its squad.

Pitt fullback Dick Bowen, who suffered an ankle sprain against the Sooners, was excused from Monday's drills. Trainer Howard Waite said Bowen would make the trip to Oregon but may not see action.

It's Official—Yanks vs. Braves

Aaron's HR, KC Victory Turn Trick

By FRED DOWN

The Milwaukee Braves took the National League pennant west for the first time in a decade today while the New York Yankees added an eighth American League flag to Casey Stengel's golden nine-year regime.

The races ended, just 10 minutes apart Monday night when a two-run homer by Hank Aaron gave the Braves a 4-2, 11-inning clincher over the St. Louis Cardinals and the Kansas City Athletics dealt the Chicago White Sox their knockout blow with a 6-3 triumph.

The long-frustrated Braves thus enjoyed the thrill of clinching their flag themselves while the blase Yankees, who spent the night at the Basilio - Robinson fight, clinched by proxy. The Athletics have so many ex-Yankees that they often are referred to as the world champions' "second-stringers."

The Braves became the first western team to win a National League flag since the Cardinals won in 1946 when Aaron's 43rd homer of the year, a 405-foot shot over the center field fence, followed a single by Johnny Logan. A crowd of 40,926 at County Stadium saw the Milwaukee dream come true after a tense 3-hour and 33-minute struggle in which Stan Musial staged a one-man war against the Braves.

Now Hitting .349

Battling to keep the Cardinals "alive," the 36-year-old Musial had two doubles and a single in four tries to raise his average to .349. One of the doubles followed a single by Wally Moon and two runs scored to put St. Louis ahead, 2-1, when Al Dark singled with two out.

Larry Jackson, who relieved Vinegar Bend Mizell in the second inning, protected the lead until the seventh when Red Schoendienst singled, Logan sacrificed and Ed Mathews doubled. The score remained that way until the 11th when Aaron's blow finally put the egg in all Milwaukee's beer.

Gene Conley, who took over after starter Lew Burdette was removed for a pinch-hitter in the 10th, retired the only three batters he faced to gain credit for his ninth victory. Billy Muffett, who hurled the final 2 2-3 innings for St. Louis, suffered his second loss.

The Athletics ended the White Sox' last hopes for a miracle when pinch-hitter Bob Cerv, an ex-Yankee, delivered a 410-foot sacrifice fly that brought in the winning run in the eighth inning. The bases had been filled on a double by Hector Lopez, Hal Smith's infield hit and a walk to Billy Hunter after the White Sox rallied for two runs in both the sixth and seventh innings to gain a 5-5 tie.

Basilio Cops Split Decision in Wresting Middle Title from Ray

By JACK CUDDY

NEW YORK (UP)—Carmen Basilio, who won the world middleweight championship from Sugar Ray Robinson in 15 violent rounds Monday night, will meet ex-champion Ray in a return title fight within six months, it seemed nearly certain today.

Basilio, the ex-onion farmer of Chittenango, N.Y., who pounded out a split decision over the ancient but amazing Robinson, said, "I'll be ready to honor my return-bout contract within six months."

And Robinson's most trusted advisor, George Gainford, declared today "Yes, I'd like to see Ray fight Basilio for the title again, if we can get assurances from the boxing commission that the New York state law against the use of collodoin-iodoform ointment will be carried out."

Gainford, principal handler in Robinson's corner during the electrifying battle before 38,000 in Yankee Stadium, complained to referee Al Berl five times against use of the ointment on Basilio's bleeding left brow, because it was getting into Robinson's eyes and paining him.

Considered Tip-Off

Although Robinson told reporters he would require four or five days to decide whether to fight Basilio again or to retire, Gainford's statement was interpreted by Sugar Ray's friends as the tip-off to a return brawl.

Thirty-seven-year-old Robinson has a pre-fight contract with Basilio, calling for a return shot at the title within 90 days or at a mutually agreeable time thereafter.

Carmen's own welterweight crown was not at stake Monday night; but the title was vacated automatically the instant his hand was raised in victory as new middleweight champion, by state law. Whether the N.Y. State Athletic Commission could make some exception, should Robinson unexpectedly retire and should Basilio prefer to keep the welter title—is a matter of conjecture.

Basilio, who almost retired in despair six years ago because of ring reverses, triumphed heroically Monday night in the greatest fight of his life—and one of the most thrilling ever staged in any ring.

The betting was at "even money" when they squared off, and it was a "zigzag" conflict in which each was staggered several times and each appeared on the verge of a knockout at least once. In the bloody eleventh session, Robinson — bleeding from the nose—was stunned by a right to the head and then battered nearly a minute on the ropes. In the 13th, Basilio may have been saved by the bell, after a left hook buckled his knees and a barrage to the head left him lurching about crazily and ready to fall. But neither of the rugged champions went to the canvas once.

6½-Pound Edge

Basilio, weighing 153½ pounds to Robinson's 160, forced the fighting in every round against his heavier and rangier opponent. Before the struggle was finished, Carmen was bleeding from two gashes over his left eye and from the nose and there was a large mouse under his right eye. But he was still forcing the fight and he won the last round on the cards of all three ring officials.

Meanwhile, Sugar Ray—fighting defensively and trying to catch his shorter opponent with uppercuts and left hooks as he came in—made such a gallant stand that referee Al Berl voted him the fight on the rounds basis, 9-6.

But judges Artie Aidala and Bill Recht favored Basilio respectively, 9-5-1 and 8-6-1. The United Press agreed, 9-6. A poll of 47 sports writers at the ringside showed 26 for Basilio, 17 for Robinson and four "even."

Murtaugh Names Bob Smith to Battle Dodgers

BROOKLYN, N.Y. (UP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates, with manager Danny Murtaugh signed to a new one-year contract for 1958, play the Brooklyn Dodgers tonight at Ebbets Field.

Murtaugh, who signed the contract in Pittsburgh Monday, selected Bob Smith (2-4) to pitch against the Dodgers, who will retaliate with Danny McDevitt (6-4).

Murtaugh had been the choice of Pirate fans for a full-time job since he replaced Bobby Bragan Aug. 3 in Chicago. But first he had to convince General Manager Joe L. Brown.

"Many people suggested Murtaugh be given a chance," Brown said. "The important thing to me was that the proper man be selected."

Danny split even in the 48 games he has piloted the team thus far this season.

The amiable Irishman said he will be a bench manager next year.

"I think I can be more valuable on the bench," he said. "Many times when decisions are needed I'm on third base and I find I'm neglecting the man on second."

Steelers Give Releases to Ted, Three Vets

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The Pittsburgh Steelers resumed practice today for their National Football League opener against the Washington Redskins here Sunday.

Coach Buddy Parker, who has released or traded 11 veteran steelers since being hired as the Pittsburgh coach, must cut one more player from the squad by midnight tonight to meet the NFL 35-player limit.

Released outright Monday were quarterback Ted Marchibroda, center Jim Taylor and guard Art Michalik, all Steeler veterans, plus halfback Harland Carl, recently acquired by the Chicago Bears.

The Steelers Monday added guard Sid Fournet and halfback Dean Derby, both obtained from the Los Angeles Rams for draft choices. The Rams get a 1957 pick for Fournet and a 1958 selection for Derby.

Marchibroda, former St. Bonaventure and Detroit University star who is in the insurance business in Pittsburgh, said he was "a little surprised" that he was released. He was the Steelers' No. 1 draft choice in 1953.

"I am going to sit tight for the time being and hope to catch on with another club," Marchibroda said.

Since Parker took over for Walt Kiesling as coach he has released or traded Lynn Chandnois, Marv Matuszak, Johnny Lattner, Jack O'Brien, Henry Ford, Bob Gaona, Jack Scarbath and Charley Sheppard, in addition to Marchibroda, Taylor and Michalik.

Jim Salay Tops Office League

Pittsburgh Steel Company's Office League saw the Production, Engineers and Payroll blank General, Order and Shipping Department teams, 3-0.

Jim Salay rolled both the single and three game highs of 188 and 512. Carl Chavrin was right behind in the three-game department with a 498 and John Dankosky had a 185 to press Salay for the single game high. Other top scorers were John Dankosky, Chip McCleary, Joe Burger and Herb Johnson.

The Standings — Engineers 8-0; Order 5-4; Production 5-4, Payroll 4-5, General 2-7, Shipping 2-7.

Flanagan, Woods High in Page Loop

F. Flanagan and J. Woos both had over 500 three-game marks, Flanagan with a 508, Woods with a 502. Others contributing considerable points to their teams were A. Imbriscia who had a single game mark of 192, one pin behind F. Todd's 193, the same single mark posted by Woods, J. Mayernick, E. Gladys, E. Spadafore, A. Martinet and A. Hubans.

Standings — Galvanize, Stainless and Electrical all 6-3, Mechanical No. 2, 5-4, Mechanical No. 1, Testing, and Cold Roll, all 4-5, and Supervisors 1-8.

Wedges, Keys Win Construction Tilts

Construction Bowling League action last night saw the Wedges and Keys topping the Arches and Squares.

Joe Kollash with a 178 and 457 led all scorers with Frank Stancato having a 451 three-game score. James Woods and Herb Palm were also among the high point makers, Woods with a three-game 414, Palm with a 379.

Standings — Wedges 6-3, Arches 5-4, Keys 5-4 and Squares 2-7.

Lenio Paces in Finishing League

Joe Lenio rolled a 502 three-game total to pace the scorers in the Finishing Side Electric League Bowling last night as Pitt-Carbon, E. E. and Westinghouse won their matches.

Lenio had to share scoring honors with Al Spadafore who had a single game score of 210 and a 492 three-game total. Others among the top scorers were George Kuvinka, Koke Alessio, Joe Hornak and Bob Bernardo.

Standings Pitt-Carbon 8-1, Westinghouse 6-3, GE 5-4, Clark 3-6, Reliance 3-6 and EC and M 2-7.

State Archery Group Urging Safety Drives

The Pennsylvania State Archery Association is encouraging member clubs of the Association to sponsor a hunt safely program for bowmen of their respective communities this fall.

Tentative dates for the safety training are September 28 or 20, or both. Game Protectors will be asked to cooperate in the accident prevention program. Speaking of this precautionary project, an official of the Archery Association said: "So far, there have been few casualties, none of them serious, among Pennsylvania bow hunters. We hope to reduce the incidence of them in the future by teaching archers safe hunting methods."

Game Commission officials applaud the program. Bow and arrow hunting, particularly for deer, has increased rapidly from year to year since the archers began enjoying a separate deer season in 1951. Last year the sale of licenses for the exclusive bow and arrow deer season reached more than 26,000. Though that number of bowmen "spreads thin" over the Commonwealth, the stalking and camouflage methods archers use in woodlands suggests possible danger from "anxious" arrow shooters — more so as bow hunter numbers increase.

Bow, Doe Licenses—

There have been many inquiries about the sale of licenses for the separate 1957 seasons for bow and arrow deer hunting in October and the anterless deer season in December. The Pennsylvania Game Commission provides the following information:

License applications for the archers' deer season and the so-called doe season are now in the hands of all issuing agents. The bowmen may purchase the license for their separate deer season from any county treasurer's office or the Department of Revenue, Harrisburg. But, persons planning to hunt anterless deer in the Keystone State this year must obtain their license from the treasurer of the county in which they will hunt such deer, during the special season, December 16, 17, and 18.

Chuck Hunter Death—

A zero may seldom be a desirable score, but as this summer wore on, it looked better and better in the Game Commission's woodchuck hunter fatality column for 1957.

Unfortunately the cheering ended August 12, when a Monroe County youth was the first to be fatally injured by a .30 caliber bullet while hunting woodchucks. The incomplete report of the tragedy indicates the offender, a 29-year old man who is an experienced hunter, dismounted at the rear of a jeep which was stopped when a chuck was sighted. It appears the shooter's 16-year old brother, the victim, left the car about the same time and unexpectedly stepped into the line of fire.

So far this year there have been 20 reported injuries chargeable to woodchuck hunting in Pennsylvania. Typically, 7 of them were self-inflicted. 14 additional woundings occured in miscellaneous mishaps — while hunting raccons, crows and foxes, and one more occurred in the early 1957 snowshoe rabbit season.

Compared to the first eight months of each of the recent years the 1957 hunter casualty total in Pennsylvania is not presently high. Nevertheless, the fall hunter-gun safety campaign, conducted by school people, sportsmen's organizations and others, as well as Game Commission personnel, will not be relaxed.

New Radio System Used by British

LONDON (UP) — Two British ships taking part in the current NATO exercises in the North Atlantic are using operationally for the first time a new method of flight deck communications called the "Flight Deck Magnetic Broadcast System." The system incorporates the use of tiny transistorized pocket receivers connected to ear pieces in the helmets of pilots and personnel on the decks of aircraft carriers. The system is designed to overcome the difficulty of communication caused by the noise made by jet aircraft.

Homemade Missile Is Fired

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (UP)—An 18 year-old youth who gave the armed forces a lesson in rocket building last year has taught them how to keep a test-firing secret this year.

Jimmy Blackmon, youthful master of the basement - built rocket, revealed Monday he successfully fired his latest creation to a height of 4,000 feet.

Jimmy and a few friends who were in on the secret tested the home-made rocket on a lonely North Carolina beach Sunday. But nobody knew anything about the test until Jimmy told the story Monday.

Jimmy astounded some of the world's leading rocket experts last summer when he built a workable rocket missile in his basement and announced plans to fire it.

Just to be on the safe side, he sought permission from the Civil Aeronautics Administration. But CAA officials threw up their hands and called in the Pentagon. Military experts were so impressed with the rocket that they took Jimmy and the "unguided" Missile to the Army's Redstone Missile Center at Huntsville, Ala.

At Redstone, missile experts put the rocket through a series of test and decided its fuel was too dangerous for a test flight.

Jimmy's latest was a five and one half-foot metal finger powered with powdered zinc and sulphur.

The rocket, traveling so fast it was hard to follow, angled down the beach and out to sea. It arched gracefully at about 4,000 feet and plunged into the ocean 400 feet from the launching site and 80 feet from shore.

Latrobe District Man Held for Criminal Assault

GREENSBURG, Pa. (UP)—Anthony T. Catanzarite, 28, of Brenizer, near Latrobe, was held today on a charge of attempted criminal assault on a Blairsville woman and robbery.

State police said Catanzarite attempted to attack Mrs. Nancy Eleanor Deal, 27, in her Blairsville home after threatening to kill her 20-month-old daughter with a .22 caliber rifle.

Mrs. Deal was surprised while cleaning the bathroom of her home Monday, according to police. When Mrs. Deal's 5-year-old daughter appeared at the front door of their home she told the child to run to a neighbor's house.

Catanzarite became frightened, police said, and fled after picking up Mrs. Deal's wallet, which contained $80.

State police from Greensburg and Indiana helped Blairsville police surround a wooded section where Catanzarite had fled. He was captured without resistance about two hours later while leaving the woods between Brenizer and New Derry.

Catanzarite was still carrying the rifle when arrested and had Mrs. Deal's wallet, police said. He was held for a hearing.

Steel Users Are Getting Products From Warehouses

SKOKIE, Ill. (UP)—Steel users are filling larger and larger amounts of their needs through warehouses largely because of skyrocketing costs involved in maintaining high inventories, Seymour Waldman, president of Rolled Steel Corp., said today.

Waldman, also a vice president of the Association of Steel Distributors, predicted within 25 years buyers will be filling more than half their needs through warehouses.

Waldman said in a company statement that it has cost manufacturers more than 20 per cent of the cost price to carry a steel inventory over a year.

He noted also that the guaranteed annual wage may contribute significantly to the growth of the warehouse steel industry.

He explained that manufacturers whose labor contracts embody a guaranteed wage will attempt to spread their production as evenly as possible over the entire year. The high cost of maintaining an inventory would influence these manufacturers to place regular mill orders in relation to production schedules.

Wyano Mine Needs Better Ventilation

The U. S. Bureau of Mines today advised better underground ventilation at the Wyano mine, operated by the Yezek brothers, at Wyano.

The recommendation was made after an inspection by M. J. Satterfield, federal inspector. The mine produces 15 tons of coal per day.

Greece Rejects Confab Plan

ATHENS, Greece (UP)—Greece has turned down Communist Romania's proposal for a conference of Balkan states to strengthen peace and increase Balkan cooperation, it was announced today. Informed sources said a Greek note explained Greece was unable to participate because it has serious problems pending with Bulgaria and Albania, and because of its Western alliances. Romania had proposed a six-nation conference with pro-Western Greece and Turkey and Communist Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania.

Helpmates Class In Meeting at Hutchinson Home

The Helpmates class of the First Christian Church of Perryopolis met recently at the home of Mrs. Clarence Hutchinson, Perryopolis, R. D.

The meeting was directed by Mrs. Grace Johnson, Perryopolis. The report of the last meeting was given by Cora Davis, secretary. A full calendar is being planned for the winter months with a Halloween party to be held at the home of Mrs. George Kosisky Jr. on Oct. 17.

On Nov. 14 a bazaar will be held at the church.

Devotions at the meeting were led by Mrs. Hutchinson. A contest of homemade hats featured the entertainment. Helen Godla won the prettiest and Edith Stickel, the funniest.

Mrs. Luvada Blair, secretary, gave the report. The treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Randolph Echard.

Annie Reynolds, hostess, served lunch, assisted by Laura Hixenbaugh. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Frances Mellinger.

Vitamin A to Remove Warts

PHILADELPHIA (UP)- A New York chiropodist said Sunday that injections of vitamin A were highly successful in removing warts and corns on the soles of the feet.

Dr. Marvin D. Steinberg, addressing the annual scientific symposium of the Greater Philadelphia Chiropody Society, said he treated hundreds of patients with the vitamin for more than a year and that it was 98 per cent effective in eliminating warts. He said the percentages were slightly less "but still amazingly successful" in treating deep corns on the sole of the foot.

Dr. Steinberg said oral administration of vitamin A cannot bring the same results as direct injections to specific local spots on the foot. He said the treatment consists of several injections of vitamin A under the dermis in the area of the growth at weekly intervals.

The Chiropodist told more than 300 foot-doctors that the method is "conservative" when compared with X-ray, radium, liquid nitrogen and other treatments. He credited the results to the effectiveness of vitamin A in stimulating normal skin growth and preventing excessive growth of unhealthy tissue.

School Board Delays Action On Selection of Solicitor

Rostraver Twp's Board of Education is still without a solicitor.

At a meeting last night, the directors decided to delay the selection until two Monessen attorneys, the only candidates, are interviewed by a committee of board members. Seeking to succeed the resigned David H. Weiss, now a Westmoreland County judge, as township school solicitor are Bernard Shire and Henry A. Martin.

For the most part, the meeting was devoted to routine business. Superintendent E. F. Carder did inject a new item on the agenda by reporting on an incident following last Friday's football game West Newton.

Carter told the Board he met with the football squad and coaches yesterday to determine why players walked from the Junior High stadium to the High School rather than ride the school bus.

"It would appear that the boys walked as a form of self-punishment after the loss," reported Carter. "They were not ordered to do so and the coaches did eveything possible to get the boys back on the bus once they learned what was happening. All but five or six players, who took a shortcutt off of the highway, were picked up within short distance."

Awarded Contracts

The Board awarded contracts for the purchase of furniture to the following low bidders: 40 desks at $11.64 each to William G. Johnston Co.; 4 teacher desk chairs at $17.85 each to William G. Johnston; 4 teacher desks at $88.45 each to J. H. McCormick; and 3 four-drawer filing cabinets as $38.40 each to J. H. McCormick.

Another contract was awarded to the Lightning Protection Co. for the installation of lightning protection at the Junior High building at a cost of $357.80.

A low bid of $1,555 submitted by Hobart Miller, Uniontown, was accepted for a new roof on the LaGrange building.

Here are other developments at the meeting:

RESIGNATION — The resignation of Joseph Galayda, an elementary teacher, was accepted.

BAND APPEARANCES. — The board authorized the appearance of the high school band at Pitt Stadium on Oct. 12 and at Monessen on Oct. 31 for a Halloween parade.

RETIREMENT AGE — In compliance with state laws now in effect as a result of the integrated plan of social security, the retirement age for teachers was increased from 62 to 65.

BUILDING AND GROUNDS — The board gave Carter permission to hire a high-lift to remove dirt from a ditch near the bus garage. Installation of a new electrical line was also okayed for the Lebanon school.

CONFERENCES — Librarians Mrs. Lois Goldberg and Mrs. Marjorie Jones were given permission to attend a library conference at Bedford Springs. Carter's request to attend a state administrators conference in Harrisburg was approved and John Pelar was authorized to serve on an evaluation committee at North Allegheny in December.

CONCESSIONS — The cheerleaders were granted concession privileges for basketball games this season.

GARBAGE BIDS — The board tabled action on garbage bids until last year's costs are studied. Bidding for the job are Harry Currans and Nelson Ross.

MAY BORROW FUNDS — The board okayed a temporary loan not to exceed $20,000 to meet expenses, if needed, before real estate tax money and state appropriations are received.

BUS TRANSPORTATION — The transportation committee reported to the board that three complaints had been investigated but advised no change in routes because of the poor condition of the roads involved. Carter pointed out that the district is obliged to see that students do not walk further than one mile and a half en route to school. In each of the three complaints, the student was walking about a half-mile to a bus stop.

Attending the meeting were all directors: Peter Backstrom, Henry Bush, Thomas Patters, Rudolph Godzak, Robert Streets, Samuel Weightman and John Deter.

Pre-Nuptial Shower Held For Carol Hughes

A re-nuptial shower was given Saturday night at the Russian Hall by Mrs. Mary Trembush for Carol Hughes.

The hall was decorated in blue and white. Some 85 persons from the district attended. The honored guest received many gifts from a decorated table with a decorated umbrella.

Lunch was served by hostesses Mrs. Chunko, Anna Regal, Dolores Moody, Mary Trembush and Christine Drotor. The tables were decorated with autumn flowers and blue and white streamers. Games were played and prizes awarded. Carol will become the bride of John Trembush on Oct. 19 at Rehoboth Church.

St. Anne's Altar Society of Fellsburg will meet tonight at 8 o'clock in Holy Cross Mission in Webster.

Rostraver Adult Sewing Classes Set to Begin

The Adult Sewing Class of Rostraver will open Oct. 1 and 3 in the Homemaking Class at Rostraver High School. Two courses will be conducted.

The dressmaking class will begin Oct. 1 from 7 to 10 p.m. and will be held each Tuesday for 12 weeks. The tailoring class will convene Oct. 3 for its first class and will meet every Thursday from 7 to 10 p.m., also for 12 weeks.

The enrollment will be limited to 20 adults to each class. Any resident of the township may enroll by calling Mrs. Eleanor Finley, Belle Vernon 7829-R2.

Enrollment will be on a first-come, first served basis.

A fee of $3 will be assessed each person. However, the fee will be returned providing nine of the 12 classes are attended.

Guest Speaker at Pricedale Church

Guest speaker at Pricedale Union Church Sunday was the Rev Douglas Stratton, of New Jersey. His topic Sunday morning was "The Sweetest Name". His evening sermon was on "The Blood".

The Rev. Mr. Stratton and his wife were houseguests of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bush.

Next Sunday's speaker will be the Rev. Albert Hyle of New York. Services will be at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p. m. On Oct. 6, after Sunday School, a congregational meeting will be held. Oct. 13 will be rally day for the Sunday School and church.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Opatkiewicz, of R. D., Belle Vernon, have returned home after touring places of interest in Virginia, West Virginia, Washington, D. C., Delaware and Maryland. On their way home, they visited with Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Greenawalt and son of Lebanon, Pa. Mrs. Greenawalt and Mrs. Opatkiewicz are sisters.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Watts and children, Susan and Wayne Jr., of Morgantown, W. Va. visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Hudson and daughter of Johnson Ave.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wood, of Ruffsdale, visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Echart of Sweeney Plan.

Rehoboth Ladies Aid Group in Class Meeting

The Ladies Aid of Rehoboth Church met Thursday with Beth Patterson, president, in charge.

Reports were given by Thelma Smock, secretary, and Mrs. Rankin, treasurer. The president outlined the program for visiting day at Oakmont Home for the Aged Thursday.

A report of the nominating committee was as follows: Beth Patterson, president; Ann Rechichar and Emily Cook, first quarter chairmen; Helen Lee and Frances Colvin, second quarter; Esther Leeper and Eleanor Heath, third quarter, and Sara Trickett and Hazel Zundel, fourth quarter; Thelma Smock, secretary; Eleanor Heath, assistant secretary, and Lena Watts, treasurer. Twenty-five were present.

Mr. and Mrs. William Callaway, of R. D., Belle Vernon, are vacationing in New York City. The Callaway sons are staying at the home of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Altier, of Route 71.

New Strike Threat

ROME (UP) — Italy's secondary school teachers threatened a new strike today unless the government accepts their claims for career benefits by the end of next month. The teachers union served notice that it would call a strike of "adequate" length if the government fails to submit to Parliament an urgent bill reforming the teachers' career system. The strike would be the latest in a long series of school stoppages which started about three years ago.

Colonel Faces Death

SEOUL, Korea (UP) — Republic of Korea Army Col. Huh Tai Yung goes before a firing squad at Taegu today for taking part in the 1956 assassination of army intelligence chief Maj. Gen. Jim Chang Yong. Huh's driver, Sgt. Lee Yiu Hoe, also was to be executed. Lee drove the getaway jeep after the killing stemming from a feud among top South Korean army officers. In all, 13 persons were arrested and convicted of complicity in the plot.

Junior Auxiliary To Meet Friday

The Junior Auxiliary to Belle Vernon American Legion Post 659 will meet on Friday evening at 7 o'clock in the club room of the legion home.

Mrs. Dorothy Cefala will be in charge as junior director. This is the first meeting of the fall season and various projects will be outlined.

Woman's Club Plans Reception For President

The Woman's Club of Belle Vernon will honor the president, Mrs. C. W. Bierwirth, at the annual president's reception next Tuesday afternoon at the First Methodist Church at 2 p. m.

Mrs. Bierwirth will extend greetings, and representatives of various district clubs will be guests. Music will be presented as a special feature.

Guest speaker will be Carolyn E. Davis, director of volunteer service at Woodville State Hospital. Her topic will be "Wanted — Your Magic."

The club officers will be hostesses, and the social committee will be in charge of serving tea. It is composed of Mrs. Harold R. Toner and Mrs. W. D. Gemmill, chairmen, Mrs. C. R. Armstrong, Mrs. Robert K. Beck, Mrs. Jerome Boland, Mrs. J. D. Case, Mrs. J. Arlie Culler, Mrs. Mylo Culler, Mrs. James Ferguson, Mrs. Ross Flora, Mrs. Edward Harry, Mrs. Nash Jarvis, Mrs. Robert W. Lange, Mrs. C. R. McConnell, Mrs. John E. Owen, Mrs. William Pierotti, Mrs. Harold Robins, Elizabeth Roley, Mrs. Leo Sabatini, Mrs. C. L. Schoaf, Mrs. James Tague, Mrs. Eldred Welch and Mrs. E. F. Wilson.

Local Students To Get Holiday

Students in the Bellmaretic Joint Schools will have their first holidays of the school term on Thursday and Friday of this week. The teachers will be attending Fayette County Institute in Uniontown, so there will be no classes.

On Thursday the institute sessions will be held in Uniontown High School with a program of outstanding speakers.

The Friday program will be devoted to workshops held in North Union High School, South Union High School, Connellsville High School and Bullskin Township High School.

Most of the secondary teachers will attend sessions, in the new Connellsville building.

Catholic Children To Get Instruction

Next Saturday morning from 9:30 until 11 o'clock religious instruction for all Catholic children of the St. Sebastian parish from grades 1 to 8 inclusive, who attend the public schools, will be given at St. Sebastian School. Attendance of junior high students is stressed.

Junior High students also take part in the released time education program set up in the schools.

Civic Club to Meet Tuesday For Smorgasbord

The summer recess will come to a close for members of the Tuesday Evening Civic Club next Tuesday evening, Oct. 1, when they meet for an informal social session in the form of a smorgasbord. It will be held in the meeting room of the American Legion Home.

At 6:30 dinner will be served, and each member is to provide her own table service and a covered dish.

The committee in charge will include Mrs. George Wenick, Mrs. Mickey Gelotti, Mrs. Harry Hackenson, Mrs. Harold Heffner, Mrs. William Garber, Mrs. Bernard Goldberg and Mrs. Nick D'amico.

The dinner meeting has been arranged to precede the annual president's reception the social highlight of the club's fall season, which has been set for Tuesday, Oct. 15.

Fire Auxiliary Meeting Plans

Carol Davenport, Mrs. Mabel Yeaton, Mrs. Doreen Wright and Mrs. Dorothy Wendell, members of the Ladies Auxiliary to Belle Vernon Fire Co. No. 2 were in New Kensington on Friday evening to attend a meeting of the Western Pennsylvania Firemen's Association Ladies Auxiliary.

The session was held in the Kinlock fire hall, where the new western president, Ruth Hereda, is a member of the auxiliary. There was a business meeting and a social hour. Miss Davenport was named to serve on the ways and means committee for the association.

The next meeting will be held on Friday evening, Oct. 18, in the court house in Pittsburgh.

Legion Group to Hold Installation

A testimonial dinner and installation of officers of the 8 and 40 Salon 105 of Fayette County will be held at the White Swan Hotel on Thursday evening at 6:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Ann Moorhouse, retiring chapeau, will be honored.

Newly elected officers to be installed are Imogene Smith, le petit chapeau; Mrs. Mary Ferrari of Belle Vernon, le demi petit chapeau premier; Mrs. Mary DeFino of Grindstone, le demi petit chapeau deuxieme and Mrs. Myrtle Justice of Masontown, l'aumonier.

Mrs. Jean Cohen of Belle Vernon will be installed a member of the pouvoir board.

Principal Returns

Bellmar High School Principal Raymond Barker has resumed his duties after an absence of several days. He was confined to his home in Fayette City suffering from a heart ailment, but is reported as improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Damian Conforti, sons, Salvatore and Ronald and Don Gambon of Wilkinsburg visited on Sunday with Mrs. Sam Orlando.

Ladies Auxiliary Making Plans For Card Party

Mrs. Mary Ferrari will be chairman of the American Legion Ladies Auxiliary Thursday evening card parties for the next month. She will be assisted by a committee yet to be named.

Last Thursday the auxiliary sponsored a party with 13 tables of cards in play. Those winning prizes in five hundred were Rose Clark, Sara Bush and Lena Hollander. Euchre awards went to Alice Ventura, Ida Miller, Jennie Lewis, Helen Thieser, Ann Ferguson and B. F. Pierce.

The guest awards were won by Helen Thieser and Rose Clark, and the special awards were given to Christine Evans, G. Polkabla and Margaret Clark.

In charge of the affair were Mrs. Emma Jarvis, chairman, assisted by Mary Bashada, Alice Ventura, Mary Ferrari, Inez Lehew and Frances Seibert.

Methodist Youth Rally Sunday

A rally of the Monessen Sub-District Youth Fellowship of the Methodist Church will be held in the First Methodist Church of Belle Vernon on Sunday.

Registration will take place at 5 o'clock with dinner to follow at 5:30 p. m.

In the evening there will be a special program with James Ridgeway of Fayette City as the speaker.

Counselors for the local group met on Sunday to plan for this and other activities for the young people.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dobson and daughter, Gladys Adele of Broad Ave. spent Saturday afternoon and evening in Ellwood City attending the annual dinner and business meeting of the Pennsylvania Gladiolus Society. Mr. Dobson retired after serving two years as president of the organization.

Former Residents Announce Birth

Word has been received here of the birth of a daughter to S. Sgt. and Mrs. William S. Mort of Jacksonville, Arkansas.

The baby weighed six pounds, 15 ounces and was born on Sept. 20 at 2:15 a. m. She was named Susan Retta and is the couple's first child.

Mrs. Mort is the former Lillian Palfrey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Palfrey of Short St.

Mr. Mort is in service with the U. S. Air Force in Jacksonville after returning from overseas.

Women's Benefit Review on Friday

Victoria White of California, managing deputy of the Women's Benefit Association of this valley, paid a visit to the Belle Vernon review on Friday evening. The meeting was held in the Sons of Italy Hall.

Mrs. White spoke on lodge activities including the annual state convention, which will be held in Pittsburgh in May of 1958.

A social hour followed the business session and luncheon was served.

Altar boys of St. Sebastian Church will meet at 7 o'clock this evening, and at 7:30 the church choir will rehearse.

Save 182 hours of potwatching a year

Get a modern Burner-with-a-Brain matchless Gas range

The average woman cooking for four people spends around two hours each day preparing meals. It takes careful watching to see that nothing burns or boils over . . . at LEAST 30 minutes out of that two hours. That's 182 hours of potwatching a year!

A new Burner-with-a-Brain matchless Gas range, with its automatic top burner heat control, saves you ALL that time. Even more important, it won't let foods burn, scorch or over-cook. When you get busy and forget, it remembers for you. Raises and lowers the flame automatically. Keeps the exact temperatures you dial. You never have messy boilovers to clean up, scorched pans to scrub, burned food to throw away.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

1 Death Notice

PIOREKOWSKI — Mrs. Anna, 4 Anderson Court, Monessen, was fatally injured in an automobile accident in Winchester, Va., Sept. 22. She was pronounced dead on arrival at Winchester Memorial Hospital at 1 a. m. Surviving are her husband, Adam; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Cherkun, Hahntown; three brothers, Joseph, Milwaukee, Wis.; John, Hahntown and Charles, Rillton and two sisters, Mrs. Stanley (Mary) Ludwiczak, Long Island, N. Y. and Mrs. Jack (Helen) Way, San Diego, Calif. Friends are being received at the Schwerha Funeral Home, Donora, where brief services will be held Thursday, Sept. 26, at 9 a. m. Additional services will follow at 10 a. m. from St. Mary's Greek Rite Catholic Church, Herminie. The Rev. Josephaet Popovich will officiate at requiem high mass. Interment will be held in Union Cemetery, Irwin. R. R. Schwerha, funeral director.

2 Memorials

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Andrew Sedlak, who died one year ago today, Sept. 24, 1956.
Sad and sudden was the call
Of one so dearly loved by all;
A bitter grief: a shock severe
It was to part with one so dear.
We often sit and think of you,
And speak of how you died,
To think you could not say goodbye
Before you closed your eyes.
For all of us you did your best,
God grant you eternal rest.
Sadly missed by his Wife and Family.

In loving memory of husband, father and brother, Charles Buck, who died one year ago today, September 24, 1956
He is gone but not forgotten
And as dawns another year
In our lonely hours of thinking
Thoughts of him are always near.
Days of sadness will come o'er us,
Friends may think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow
That lies within the heart concealed.
Sadly missed by wife, sons, sisters and brothers and their families.

In loving memory of our dear husband, father and grandfather, Andrew Benyak, who died one year ago today, September 24, 1956.
Darling father, how we miss you,
No one will ever know
Of the many heartaches and sorrows,
As the days come and go.
You left with us a memory
Which clings around your name.
Just how brave and true you were
Until the day you died.
The flowers we place upon your grave,
May wither and decay,
But the love we hold for you dear one,
Will never fade away.
We love you more and always
And miss you more each day
Your name is always mentioned
In many, loving ways.
Sadly missed by his Wife, Children and Grandchildren.

In loving memory of my dear son, James Russell Lehew, Jr., who was killed by an automobile five years ago today, September 24, 1952.
Loving memories never die
As years roll on, and days pass by,
Deep in my heart a memory is kept
Of one I loved and will never forget.
He is gone but not forgotten
And as dawns another year
In my lonely hours of thinking
Thoughts of him are always near.
A grief, a tear, a thought sincere.
How often I wish that you were here.
Sadly missed by his mother,
Mrs. J. R. Lehew

New Type of Health Insurance Booming; To Cover Big Payments

(Second in a series)

By JACK V. FOX

NEW YORK (UP) — When severe illness strikes the average American home, the reaction almost invariably is: "Doctor, do whatever is necessary and we will pay for it somehow."

That happened in approximately a million families last year. Many of them had medical bills that exceeded the father's total income for the year. The bills ran in the thousands of dollars for doctors' fees, surgery, hospitalization, medicines, laboratory tests, X-rays, nurses.

Of those million families, their health insurance covered only about 25 per cent of the cost. Many were put in financial straits through which they will struggle the rest of their lives. And many of the illnesses were of the type that are prolonged.

That is a spectre which most of us have worried about. The need to do something about it has led to the booming of a new type of health insurance which is generally known as "catastrophic" or "major medical."

Backed by Government, Unions

In the year 1952 only 68,000 persons had such insurance. Now, five years later, the total covered by major medical insurance is around 10 million. It has the hearty endorsement of the government, labor unions and many of the nation's big corporations.

Here, in brief, is how such a policy works:

The insured and his family are covered for expenses up to a very liberal limit, perhaps $5,000 or even $10,000.

His smaller medical costs are not insured. That is the so-called "deductible" amount. It may be $250 and all expenses up to that amount must be borne otherwise. It is similar to automobile deductible insurance.

But once the medical expenses reach, say $250, the insurance takes effect and goes to the limit. In virtually all such policies, however, the patient must pay 20 or 25 per cent of the bill himself while the insurance company pays 80 to 75 per cent.

Deters Unnecessary Bills

The necessity for this so-called "co-insurance" provision is fairly obvious. It deters the patient from staying in a hospital longer than is necessary, demanding treatments, examinations, drugs and services that are superfluous—but which he might demand if "somebody" were paying.

This is the point on which most criticism of major medical insurance is based. Its critics say it is inflationary, that doctors and patients will conspire to boost bills. They say that may be particularly applicable to doctors, faced with the choice between an expensive and inexpensive treatment and taking the costly one.

Insurance companies themselves are concerned about this possibility, but they say the ethics of the profession will cope with it. Also, the size of such bills must be "reasonable, necessary and customary." Appeals against alleged overcharging may be made to medical societies.

The cost of such insurance depends on the amount that is deductible, the maximum benefit payment that can be made and the income of the insured. The cost of a fairly typical major medical policy in one corporation for a factory worker and his family was $70.20 yearly.

Preventive Medicine Uncovered

These plans generally do not cover preventive medicine—regular checkups, inoculations, fitting of eyeglasses or hearing aids or most dental work.

Most of those with major medical insurance decide to have some other basic insurance that covers smaller hospital and surgical bills.

The misuse and abuse of major medical insurance obviously could spiral into impossible costs that would raise premiums above the reach of most persons. As one insurance company said, "While our resources stand behind each policy, the company in the long run must collect enough total premiums to support the total payments."

Doctors, too, are worried that they will be called upon to carry out unnecessary procedures. A survey taken by the American Medical Assn. produced such comments as: "Not a day goes by that we aren't being pressured to do something we would like not to do."

The doctor can, of course, refuse. But the patient can reply, "Then I'll go elsewhere" and frequently he does.

Nevertheless, major medical insurance seems one of the fundamental answers to catastrophic illness. Marion B. Folsom, secretary of health, education and welfare, has termed it "perhaps that most venturesome and important new development in the voluntary health insurance field."

Pattern of Arthritis Victims

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

Will you develop rheumatoid arthritis?

No one, of course, can say in advance who will or who will not suffer from this disabling disease. But a recent study indicates that a particular type of person seems to be most susceptible.

Certain individuals who develop rheumatoid arthritis have a particular and unique personality pattern.

This, at least, is the conclusion of Drs. Norman O. Rothermich, of the Columbus Medical Center, and Sanford Gifford, of the Harvard Medical School.

Studies of numerous patients indicate that persons who develop the disease seem to have a strong feeling of inadequacy coupled with a high degree of social consciousness.

They appear to have an intense ever-present desire to do the right thing and a need to live by the Golden Rule. They are inclined to be meticulous, perfectionists and overanticipatory.

Many victims of rheumatoid arthritis have an attitude of stern self-righteousness and a devotion to serving others.

They have a rigid preoccupation with cleanliness and place a striking emphasis on the emotional importance of keeping active or in occupations requiring physical movement and use of the hands.

Others show a life-long need to be independent and self-sufficient, to keep continually busy with housework or intellectual pursuits.

They also are more likely to have peptic ulcer, ulcerative colitis or chronic skin ailments.

However, they don't have to worry much about becoming mentally deficient or turning to a life of crime.

A thorough check of inmates of a large state penitentiary disclosed that an extremely small number had rheumatoid arthritis. And a similar study of 20,470 mental patients revealed only 30 who had the disease.

Not everyone who has the personality patterns I have listed above will develop rheumatoid arthritis. Far from it! But Dr. Rothermich says that rheumatoid arthritis develops largely in such persons.

Question and Answer

M. T.: I have a severe case of rheumatoid heart disease. I have been advised surgery on one of the valves of my heart may help me. Do you think it can be of any help?

Answer: The operation known as commissurotomy, for the treatment of severe cases of valvular heart disease due to rheumatic fever, has proved of value in certain cases. It would be advisable for you to follow your physician's advice.

Perry Como Has New Challenger This Year

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP) — NBC-TV's Perry Como, having knocked off CBS-TV's Jackie Gleason, is squaring off against a new CBS-TV challenger this season — a detective named Perry Mason.

But Como isn't worried. "They're already making up gags about Perry versus Perry," laughed Como. "The funniest one I've heard so far says—It's Perry the Catholic against Perry the Mason."

Como, who was sipping on some coffee, broke up for a bit then turned serious. "Well, you know, I try to look composed about this ratings bit, but in this business you're always worried. All I'm hoping is that not too many viewers go in for mysteries. My spies tell me it's a pretty fair show."

Scramble for Guests

However, Perry Mason won't be his only competition, observed Como. The singer will be involved in a scramble for big-name guests with a mob of other musical shows.

"There are going to be 17 musical shows on this season," said Como as he shook his head gravely. "Well, the networks feel this is the kind of show people like—I like Westerns myself —, but I wonder what it's going to be like in a couple of months.

"I have a feeling that around the first of the year, a lot of people are going to be hurt. It's impossible for 17 musical shows to keep going. But for a while, it's going to be pretty messy for everybody—competing for audiences and for guests.

Perry Como

"You know, guests are getting more and more difficult to get. Some of them want, well, $20,000 for an appearance, some of them. And you know our show has a top of $7,500 for one shot."

Como figures his show has one advantage though over other shows. "I think we've got a small edge because many guests who have been on our TV show know how they've been treated by us and that makes 'em want to come back.

"As a result we don't feel too much pressure yet—we're going to have the Nat Coles, the Patti Pages and the Tony Bennetts on our show. Of course, you can always swap appearances with other stars—(Bob) Hope and Dinah (Shore) have offered me swaps—but I'm going to turn them down. You can't do your own show adequately and guest on other shows."

He Styles Hair for The Stars

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UP)—Have comb, will commute. That's Ernest Adler, hair stylist for Faye Emerson, Polly Bergen, Patti Page, "My Fair Lady," "Li'l Abner" and numerous other television and theater stars and productions.

Adler, a Bostonian who was fired from his first beauty shop job, is known in the entertainment industry as "The Comb."

He sticks his comb, scissors and manicure shears in his pocket and commutes from artists' homes to TV studios to the theater. On occasion, he gets as far as California —to design hairdos for a movie.

He has no shop of his own. He explained he doesn't need one. Most stars he works with have shampooing and drying equipment at their own homes; or, it's backstage.

Adler Moves Fast

I finally caught up with the fast-moving Adler at the Ira Senz establishment, just a few doors off Broadway.

Senz is a leading wigmaker for the entertainment world. He is the son of Adolf Senz, who for 52 years was chief hairdresser for the Metropolitan Opera Co.

Senz has Adler in his hair a great deal of the time.

"Wouldn't work with any other wigmaker," said Adler. He was snipping away at a set of thick black curls.

"They're for Lena Horne," said Adler. "We will tuck her real hair under a turban and pin these on for 'Jamaica.' Hairpieces hold curl better than the real thing... we bake the curl in, in an oven."

"Jamaica," a musical, is due on Broadway next month. Senz also will do the hair-styling for the Helen Hayes show, "Time Remembered," for "Romanoff and Juliet," and "Copper and Brass."

"Six shows a season, that's about all I have time for on Broadway," said Adler. "Television keeps me busy. I do the hair styles for the Perry Como show—for the girls, not Perry. For trade shows, Judy Garland and Patrice Munsel wouldn't be without me.

"Know that funny bang Judy wore in 'A Star Is Born'? Did it with manicuring scissors."

Adler said his first experience in the entertainment world was as a page boy at the Capitol Theater. Then he had a few dancing jobs on Broadway, before he studied hairdressing and makeup. His first beauty shop job lasted two weeks.

"They told me I was making all the customers look alike," said Adler. "I got fired Christmas Eve."

Adler, in 18 years of hair styling, has worked with nightclub singers, the chorus line at the Roxy, toured with Dorothy Lamour, Betty Grable, Helen Forrest and the late Carole Landis. He has styled for TV shows ever since TV.

Adler believes he has set off many a fad.

Confidential Jury Nearing Deadlock

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Both the prosecution and the defense counsels in the Confidential magazine criminal libel trial agreed today there was a good possibility the trial would end with a hung jury.

Jurors appeared hopelessly deadlocked in the seventh day of deliberations to reach a verdict.

$ $ $ WIN CASH PRIZES WEEKLY! $

FOOTBALL CONTEST

Test your skill by matching your predictions with the football experts weekly

FREE CASH PRIZES will be awarded each week (in accordance with Contest Rules at right) as follows: 1st PRIZE: $15; 2nd PRIZE: $7.50; 3rd PRIZE: $5. Nothing to Buy. Nothing to Pay. No Obligation.

CONTEST RULES

- 12 football games this weekend are placed, one in each ad on this page. Indicate winnner by writing in the name of team opposite the advertiser's name in the Entry Blank. No scores. Just pick winners.
- Pick a number which you think will be the highest number of points scored by any one team on this page and place this number in the space provided in Entry Blank. This will be used to break ties.

All entries must be brought to the participating merchants, the office of The Daily Independent, or be postmarked no later than Friday noon.
